The Dying Soldier.

[From the Chattanooga Times.]

ED. TIMES:

This poem was found on the person of private—, of company—, —Georgia, who died in Field Hospital, from wounds received at the battle of Malvern Hill in the "seven days battled around Richmond." I know nothing more of it than that I took it to send to family of the deceased. The sentiments are beautiful. If you deem it worthy to preserve, you can publish it:

I want to see my mother,
Oh, can't you call her here!
It would not seem so hard to die,
To have my mother near.

My home is on the mountains,
Up where the green tree wave,
'Twas there I heard the bugle
A calling for the braves.

But I want to see my mother,
Her gentle, loving eyes,
And hear her blessed voice
Close by me when I die.

I long to hear her footsteps,
To hear me call her name,
And have her prayers beside me,
No other prayers the same.

I want to clasp her dear hand
And hold it to my heart;
And say God bless you mother
Once more before we part.

Pray God, oh Chaplain hear me,
For heaven will give grace
To still this dying longing
To see my mother's face.

It's now I turn to Jesus,
He never will complain!
He came to save his country,
And Jesus too was slain.

My tender darling sister,
I dreamed of her all day,
I think I hear her prattling,
Lisping "brother's far away."

O, mother! mother! come to me,
I cannot die alone;
Come quickly angle mother,
O, don't you hear me groan!

O, no, she does not hear me,
She does not know my pain;
She'll never, never see me
In my dear old seat again.

Making Up Lost Time.

Half a dozen railroad men were standing by the Union depot lunch counter the other night, waiting for a train, drinking coffee and telling stories about their experiences in railroading.

An engineer was making camel-tracks in a half of a pie, and between swallows he was entertaining the boys about a fast run he made one day between Milwaukee and LaCrosse, when the "old man" was in a hurry to get up there to see about the bridge that was being built. As he was describing how the engine and two cars fairly blistered the rails between Bortage and Camp Douglass, a frightened looking man stepped up and asked for a cup of coffee and some doughnuts, and, while he was soaking a doughnut in the coffee, he said they didn't know anything about fast running unless they had been on the Pennsylvania railroad.

The men asked him what he knew about fast running, and he turned out some coffee in a saucer, blew on it to cool it, swallowed it and said:

"Well, I have just got here from the East and I have witnessed railroading that knocks the socks off anything that ever was. We started out of Jersey City one night a 8 o'clock, and up this side Philadelphia there was a wreck ahead of us and we were side-tracked for 6 hours, and when the track was clear we started. Well, sir, that train flew—fairly flew. We did not realize in the car that we were going fast by any jar, for it was just as smooth as a pair of skates on smooth ice, but if a man went out on a platform he could not breathe. The porter started to bring a lunch from the hotel car into the car I was in, and while he crossed the platform the coffee froze as stiff as ice-cream, and a man ate it with a spoon. The porter was afraid to go back into his car, and waited till the train stopped at a coal place.

"The conductor told me the train was going faster than a bullet. He said the engineer often shot his revolver up the track ahead, and the engine would overtake the bullet and flatten it against the smoke stack.

"Did you ever see a passenger train jump over a freight train, when both were in motion?" asked the doughnut man, as he filled his empty coffee-cup with milk.

"Oh, what are you given us?" said the engineer, as he loosened the leather belt around his greasy overalls, and looked at the man with disgust.

"Well, you don't have to believe it if you don't want to; but I pledge you my word our train jumped right over a long freight train ahead of us. We came up to it on a straight track and the engineer signaled to the freight conductor to slow up a little, and the conductor told us to keep our seats. We had seen the freight train ahead on a curve, and wondered why our train did not stop. When the conductor told us to keep our seats, I asked him what was the matter, and he said we were going to jump a freight train, and if we moved around we would jar the cars so they wouldn't be so liable to hit the track ahead when we came down. Just then I could see the train going into the air and hear the wheels turn with no track under them, and in less than ten seconds we began to descend, and I could hear the wheels on the track again, and I looked back and the freight engineer was waiving his hat at us," and the man lit a cigar stub which he had been keeping.—Peck's Son.

The College Bell.

Oh, college bell! Oh, college bell!
How oft to us thy tongue doth tell?
From early dawn till late at night,
Thy husky voice peals forth with might.

Oh, college bell! Oh college bell!
How can we e'er bid thee farewell?
Work thou hast done, tongue cannot tell,
We pay thee homage, Oh, college bell.

The nightengale flies past thy head,
Thy iron tongue to all hath said:
"Young men, young ladies, I wish you well!"
Oh, college bell! Oh, college bell!

We know thy voice, 'we know it well.
Thou art respected, Oh, college bell,
Oft times at night we make thee sing,
Yet do not grumble, 'tis early spring.

Oft times the snow falls on thy head,
And all the snow we do not dread,
Thou keepest watch all day long,
And in thy honor we sing this song.

Oh, college bell! Oh, college bell!
May thou often make our bosoms swell,
And when gray locks our heads adorn,
May we recall thy voice at early morn.

When we are laid inside the tomb,
And wild flowers around us bloom,
And when thou turn'st from east to west,
May all thy children be at rest.

Then thou can'st ring with all thy ease,
And future students do as they please,
Then thy good work 'twill be alive,
And thou can'st boast of ninety-five,
—J. B. SIMMONS.

Sam Jones on the Mother.

The greatest force in this country is a first-class mother. She lives longer and stronger than any other character, for she multiplies her life by the number of her children. A prohibition mother who raises ten children ought to be equal to ten prohibitionists. The Christian mother who raises ten children ought to be equal to ten Christians. The Democratic mother who raises ten children ought to be equal to ten Democrats, and so on. In a few years each of these ten children becomes the father or mother of a home and each in turn live in their children the lives of their mother, and it will be but a short time until a first-class mother will be a hundred times what she is.

A genuinely patriotic woman cannot do a better thing for this government than to multiply herself by one-half a dozen boys. I am sorry the genuine female woman is to be extinct. I am sorry the whole thing is tending toward man. Enough of the race is wearing breeches now. We need more men, but we have male material enough to make our men if some fellow could invent a process for turning male things into men. If the whole world turns to men the thing will be very monotonous. If the woman are going to wear trousers and ride astride and hold office and make stump speeches, and stand up in street cars, and be bankers and clerks, telegraph operators and railroad conductors, policemen and politicians, where are our mothers going to come from?

Dahlonega Signal.

DAHLONEGA, MAY 31, 1895.

Entered at the Dahlonega, Ga. P. O., as second class matter.

Secretary Gresham died last Tuesday.

Will Myers will be put on trial again on the 12th of June.

Col. Stephen C. Dobbs one of Athens oldest citizens, died last week.

Hicks predicts wet weather, cyclones, earth quakes, frost, water spouts for June.

Within the last week prices of cotton, wheat, corn and leather have advanced materially.

The 11th Senatorial district of Ohio has held its convention and favors McKenley for president.

Jeff McCleskey, took an over dose of laudanum in Atlanta last week through a mistake and died.

Fannin county will take a vote on removing the court house from Morganton to Blue Ridge some time during the year.

A young lady mailed a "love" letter at the Valdosta postoffice one day last week which contained 72 pages, and on which the postage was 12 cents.

We notice where a fellow cut his tongue while licking and sealing an envelop the other day and died. His tongue swelled so that it protrunded from his mouth before he died.

W. E. Rickets, while drunk, shot R. L. Smith, editor of the Morganton News last Friday through the legs. A warrant was afterwards swore out for Rickets, who waived examination and made bond and then skipped out.

The trade issue of the Rome Hustler contains near twenty-five pages, and is brim full of interesting news. The Hustler is only in its fourth year but it keeps wide awake and is one of the leading dailes of the state.

There is in New York a church that is by by known as "the millionaire's gate to heaven." It is so called because its congregation includes more of the men of enormous wealth than any other church in the city. Its name, however, is the West Presbyterian church.

There are in the interior department a number of claims which hinge upon the date of the end of the late war between the states. In a case of the kind the assistant secretary has just ruled that the war came to an end in July, 1865, and that applicants for pensions because of services rendered after that time are not entitled to them.

Judge Richard Johnson, who is in charge of the State pension office, says that over fifteen hundred claims have been filed in his department under the new pension law, and that owing to the large excess of claims over the number originally estimated, it is probably that no payments will be made at all. Payments will not be made for the present at least.—Rome Hustler.

Thomasville, Ga., May 26.—Judge Hopkins received yesterday from Milwaukee, Wis., 115 pheasant eggs. They will be hatched out under hens, raised to a size old enough to shift for themselves and turned loose on Susina plantation, the southern home and ranch of A. H. Mason of Philadelphia. This property is fourteen miles south of Thomasville, covers several thousands acres and is already well supplied with game. The golden pheasant has been tried there and thrives well. Mr. Mason proposes to stock his ranch with these beautiful birds.

Last Tuesday night Miss Jennie Moore was found dead in her store at Buford. The exact time of her death is unknown. About 8 o'clock the hurrying crowd that passed down the street noticed that this woman's little store was open and that there was light on the inside. Finally the marshal entered and found the old woman in the rear of the house lying on one side of her face wrapped in the icy arms of death. The coroner held an inquest over the body and his jury found a verdict that the woman came to her death from heart failure. This lady came to Buford a few months ago and opened a little store with a stock of about $25. She had worked hard and increased her scanty store to four times that amount. She had only one relative in the world, so far as is known, and that is a neice who lives in Dahlonega.—Gwinnett Herald.

The U. S. Gov't Reports show Royal Baking Powder superior to all others.

Mr. Burt's Letter.

Elsewhere will be found a communication from Mr. W. J. Burt which he claims to be in defense of the recent grand jury.

In this letter the writer gathers up all notes of criticism that have been made by the press of our town and places it on the shoulders of the editor of the SIGNAL, to the largest portion of which we "plead not guilty."

If Mr. Burt will look over the SIGNAL more carefully he will ascertain that he is mistaken in some of his charges preferred against us.

It is true that we did lay in a complaint because the grand jury requested us to publish the presentments at half price. The Judge also knew that it was too much work to be done for the amount of money suggested and he gave us an order on the county treasurer for double the amount recommended to be paid by the body.

This grand jury used a good deal of economy when the pay was going to some one else, but when it come to them they didn't suggest any reduction. They not only desired us to work at half price but wanted six jurors who tried a damage suit for the county to give their services for much less than this—25 cents each. But they wanted grand and petit jurors (some of the members of this body having already been drawn to serve at the next term) to have $1.50 per day. It looked very much like they desired "charity to begin at home," for every office vacant that there was any money in they recommended it to be filled by some one of their own body, but when a notary public was wanted some one else got the honors.

As far as John Hester is concerned he has never been known to drink whiskey and cut up so as to be handled by the law. Can each member of this grand jury say that they have behaved as well as John? And as to Capt. Williams' missionary qualifications we expect he can do about as much with John Hester as some of those fellows who are sent with a pocketful of money into a strange land to take charge of a country full of heathens and teach them the way they should walk.

As far as us stating that an unusually large amount of bills had been returned that didn't amount to a "bill of beans, that would bankrupt the county," is an error. No such language appeared in the SIGNAL, and as far them being "unusually diligent in looking after liquor business," we did not say it. We did refer to the number of bills and business in court to show the amount of trouble liquor gave—nothing else.

Now as far of the board of roads and revenues is concerned, we say now as we did then, that we do not need such a board. What we say is not in defense of Judge Williams, for he is big enough and large a plenty to look after his own business.

As the people as Lumpkin know that a law creating a board of this kind has been tried by her citizens twice heretofore and found so expensive that they asked for its repeal both times. We did say that some of those who favored such a law now only wanted a "job." This we were told by one of the members of the late grand jury, and we took it for granted that he was posted and couldn't be mistaken. Some of that body also told us that we needed no such board, and if there is any mistake we are not to blame for all of it. If any of you have fallen out with the present ordinary and he has not done his duty beat him out and not try to starve him out by creating a more expensive office which divides up the fees so that neither the ordinary nor board can live and do justice to the county.

Now let us figure a little and see if we cannot prove that our assertions about the board of roads and revenues are not more expensive in looking after the business of the county than the ordinary. The last board in this county—three in number—held their office from Nov. 7, 1891 up to Sept. 5, 1892—ten months. Each member received $1.50 per day as well as the clerk of the superior court, making each meeting cost the county $6. Eighteen meetings were held in the ten months, making $108.00 alone, saying nothing of horse hire or any extra expense. We find that the ordinary transacted the county's business ten years and two months at a cost of $556.04, including all horse hire and extra service. Now which do you prefer?

Lumpkin's Last Grand Jury Defended.

EDITOR SIGNAL:—I don't believe you have got out a single issue of your paper since April term of court but what contained some criticism or burlesque upon the last grand jury. You complained of the lengthy presentments, then that the jury had got an unusually large batch of bills which would bankrupt the county to try them, and that a great many of them would not amount to a "bill of beans" up stairs. We were ridiculed for being so foolish as to recommend the establishment of a Board of roads and revenues, and thought it was done simply because some of the jury wanted a job. Finally in your last issue we got a raking on the poor blind John Hester matter, and the world is put on notice that the wishes of the grand jury are not "in it" but that our Ordinary has turned missionary and gone up to convert the poor wayward man.

I recognise the right of the press to criticise and expose the actions of all public officers; but it seems that you are not going to "let up" on us. I hope you will do us the justice of letting the public hear both sides of the case. I make no reply to lengthy presentments. As to the number of bills, Mr. Editor, I do make defense and suggest to you that the violators of the law are able to give us all the abuse we need without any out side help. The law deserves the cursing and not the jury, and it is to get the public right on this matter that I undertake this defense. I have been heard in the past, as to the hardships of some of our laws. Now I want to be heard as to how powerless a jury is under the laws as they now are. Every juryman swears that he will "diligently inquire and true presentments make of all such matters and things as shall be given you in charge, or shall come to your knowledge, touching the present service." The Court charges that when a prima-facie case is made out bef re the jury that they shall get a bill, and in no case shall the defendant be heard, nor give his side of the case before the grand jury.

With the law on one side and the oath on the other the jury is made the tool of greedy and cost loving officers, upon the one hand, and mad and vindictive neighbors, or individuals, upon the other hand. A man gets mad with his neighbor, waits patiently for court and then reports him to the grand jury, giving witnesses, &c., and the jury are sworn to diligently inquire into it and generally it is no trouble to get the proof in such cases. Who is to blame? Again, under the law, the Solicitor, Sheriff and Clerk get, not only large fees, in every case successfully prosecuted, but get every dollar of the fine money paid into court. I do hope a censuring public will give this matter a careful consideration. Who gets any money out of these cases but the officers and lawyers? Do you think the grand jury wants to tax the people of this county to try these cases and cause their neighbors to pay out money when they have to foot the bill? I say no. These mountain people censure and abuse the Federal government for paying its spies to hunt up and report blockade distilleries. I want to say to you that the state government allows a much greater fee to the Sheriff and Clerk for every case they spy out and successfully prosecute, than is paid a reporter for his nefarious work. You should not lay these charges to your jury. I will say that not one bill in ten at the April term is chargable to the grand jury, and I will subscribe to an oath at any moment that I am not responsible for a single bill that was got. I do not charge the Clerk and Sheriff with being responsible for the business before us, for I had no time to investigate its origin, besides it was not my business to do so. They may, or may not, be guilty. I only assert that they are the ones who gain in such transactions and I do know others, perhaps as good as they are, who have been "turned out" for just such work. This law is wrong and ought to be changed; but, in my honest opinion, it never will be as long as the legal profession controls the legislature. Put the fines in the treasury and the grand jury will do their whole duty.

The jury wants a board of roads and revenues because the county needs it, and not because some of them wanted a "job." I am of the opinion that the people have had some "jobs" put off on them. The jury could not get much insight into the condition and management of the county's affairs, and there were wide and conflicting statements as to the funds of the county. The repeal of the law creating such a board for this county was a fraud and one of the worst "jobs" we ever had. The ordinary absolutely refused to comply with the law in making his report, said he "just could not swear" to certain things because he did not know them. The jury thought he ought to know them; the law requires him to know hence the recommendation for a board who would know these things. If any person will examine the condition of the various committies which are such boards, and look at home matters they will need no argument to convince them that such a board is necessity with us.

The jury has evidence that "poor blind John Hester" was in the habit of getting drunk and making things lively at the pauper's home he has made himself a terror to the old and helpless at the home and could not be managed when "on a spree." He would go off alone and be gone for days it was intimated that he was a blockader and liquor dealer, and many other charges were made against him. Perhaps if we had recommended that the ordinary by some "Chinese stickum fest" and use with his benign reform and conciliatory counsel upon John we would have been commended for our good work. John don't seem to take much to the ordinary's reform ideas, or at least they don't stick, for he has been turned out before. The idea of the ordinary reforming John Hester of his drunken habits is as ridiculous as any thing the grand jury ever thought of. We had no job in our mind in anything we did and if we made blunders others have made equally as bad ones.

Respectfully
W. J. BURT.

Col. W. P. Price and a Confederate Flag.

The Greenville, (S. C.,) Mountaineer of 22 inst., contains the following: Among the recent visitors to Washington in attendance upon the Southern Baptist Convention was a former citizen of Greenville, Hon. Wm. P. Price, of Dahlonega, Ga., who was for many years one of the most prominent and influential men in this community. He came here when a mere boy about the year 1850, and rapidly gained the favor of all classes, so that he was one of the most conspicuous young men in the up-country when the war began in 1861. He was a member of the Butler Guards, which went to Virginia with Kershaw's 2nd S. C. Regiment. In the fall of 1861 an engagement took place at Lewinsville, in Fairfax County, and in this skirmish Col. Price was wounded in the head, while at the same time W. L. M. Scruggs was killed.

Col. Price visited the battle ground in company with some friends from Washington, and while in the neighborhood he met Mrs. John Jackson Thomas at Fairfax, Va. Mrs. Thomas is a sister of James W. Jackson, who killed Col. Ellsworth, of the New York Zouaves. The grand daughters of this lady have in their possession a battle flag which was presented to their mother by Gen. Jos. B. Kershaw, and which had been carried by the Second Regiment when he commanded it. The family was desirious of sending the flag to South Carolina, and it was agreed that Col. Price should be the bearer to his former comrades of this relic of the war. It is his intention to place the flag in the custody of Camp Pulliam, of the United Confederate Veterans, which was named for Capt. R. C. Pulliam of the Butler Guards, and at a convenient season he will visit Greenville for the purpose of delivering this precious relic to his old comrades.

Col. Price will meet with a warm reception when he comes, not only on account of the mission with which he is entrusted, but an added interest will be given to his visit by reason of the high esteem in which he is held among the citizens of Greenville. Camp Pulliam will do the honors of the occasion and royally entertain its distinguished visitors.

The Mail.

The schedule of the Gainesville and Dahlonega daily mail line was intended to be made in five and a half hours, but it is hardly ever done. A letter mailed in Dahlonega for Atlanta at 8:55 should reach Gainesville in time to go down on the train in the afternoon but it hardly ever reaches there in time. We have secured the time the mail reached Gainesville from this place for two weeks, commencing the 1st of May up to the 16th, Sundays excluded, so as to show how the thing is running. On these days the mail left here at 9 o'clock. We will begin at the 1st. Arrived in Gainesville at 2:30; 2, 2:45; 3, 2:45; 4, 2:30; 6, 3:00; 7, 2:42; 8, 4:10; 9, 4:20; 10, 4:25; 11, 4:20; 13, 4:00; 14, 4:00; 15, 2:10; 16, 2:20.

Now coming back, leaving there every day during the two weeks at 11 o'clock as the records at the G. P. O show. 1st, arrived in Dahlonega at 4:31, 2, 3:21; 3, 5:10; 4, 5:05; 6, 4:42; 7, 6:30; 8, 4:21; 9, 6:15; 10, 5:00; 11, 5:00; 13, 4:30; 14, 4:20; 15, 4:30; 16, 4:20.

This is quite an interesting table and shows how rapid the present administration is having the mail moved along in the mountains. If all were populist up here we would believe it was the manner in which the democrats punished them, but all get their mail alike—the "just as well as the unjust."

Jay Doings.

MR. EDITOR:—

It seems that the King of the Jayites has silenced Judas, your correspondent at this place as we have had no news from here for quite awhile.

There will be another wedding near here soon. The young man has had his license for over a month. The ordinary should do like some of the churches in issuing letters of dismission. He should limit them to a certain date.

It is said that a certain young man of this section, while at a certain grist mill received some slight inquries for which he will apply for a pension, as his father draws one for similar injuries.

The Jayites who attended Mill Creek services last Sunday returned home during a rain and wind storm. They very much resembled Pharo's host that attempted to ford the Red Sea.

The King is threatening to institute a suit against some of the Jayites for erecting a snow man during last winter. He says such "acts is a exflumigation of the law" and he means to let the people know it. His attorney, Prof. Holloway, has gone North in the interest of the electric mill.

There is a justice of the Peace in Lumpkin county who has had only one case for the past six months and he continues it from term to term.

Notice to Pensioners.

The following letter explains itself:

ATLANTA, GA., May, 25, 1895.

TO THE ORDINARY:—

DEAR SIR—There have been filed in this office more than 4,000 pension claims under the Act of 15th December, 1894, and a careful examination shows that it will be entirely impracticable to pay any of them until the General assembly takes some action. As you are aware, the appropriation made to cover this law is $500,000.00 which takes in only 500 claims, when it is now certain that it will require a very much larger sum. While all of the claims now on file have not been passed on, it is reasonably safe to say that at least 2,000 will be approved. It has been suggested that the money in hand be paid out prorata but there is nothing in the law which will justify this course. It has also been suggested to pay it to those most in need, but a moments thought will show that this could not be properly done, besides every approved claim stands on the same footing with another. Another it has been advised to pay it to those whose claims were first filed, when that would likely defeat the object of the law as it would provide for those most active, or most diligent, or best able care for their own interest—to the exclusion of the most helpless. The matter will be referred to the General Assembly, and in the meantime all applications should be forwarded as prepared so that those entitled to the pension may be enrolled, and provision made for them by the Legislature.

Respectfully,
RICHARD JOHNSON,
Secretary

The Kansas City Star publishes the following interesting item:

The old gentleman and lady who have celebrated their diamond wedding in Vermont, to the great wonderment and admiration of the country, have found their performance eclipsed by Mr. and Mrs. Benefield, who live in the Creek nation, and who have just passed the 80th anniversary of their marriage. Their oldest son is over 75 years of age. Mr. Benefield and his wife came originally from Georgia. He is 105 and she has passed the 100 mark. Both are remarkably strong and vigorous, and have no present intentions of dying.

We are requested to state that the parties who got drunk and cut up at Mt. Zion church one Sunday, some time ago, were not citizens of that district nor this county. It was two fellows from Rock Creek, Fannin county, by the name of Hawk and Oliver, who came over reeling, cursing and rocking and fired off their pistols like Wild Bill in the West. Hightower's boys don't misbehave that way.

Joe Bonner, formerly of Lumpkin but now of Gilmer county, was in Dahlonega the other day somewhat scared. It seems that he had got into a fight with a fellow out there and "done him up," and he was in a quandary, not knowing whether to go back or move on. At last he decided to return to his home, and last week the grand jury found a true bill against the other fellow and left Bonner out, which tickled Joe and he is laughing until yet. This is probably one of the times that Bonner didn't want justice.

Maj. Garlington, who was appointed to come and inspect the workings of the military department of the N. G. A. The boys say they were even asked how much rations a soldier should draw. If the question had been asked how much an old confederate soldier received during the war it would not have required but few words to answer it—a hard tack and a couple of slices of mule beef.

Death of Robt. Hulsey.

Uncle Robt. Hulsey, a good old man who resided in our town, died at his son-in-laws, Mr. Bev. Brookesher, Tuesday night last after an illness of many months.

The deceased was born in Hall county in 1817.

He was married twice, his last companion having passed away about eight years ago. He was wedded to his first wife—Miss Pollie Bean—in Tennessee. Seven children were born to them before her death. He married his second wife, who was Miss Mary Jane Wacaster, in this county, and ten more children were added to the household, making seventeen in all; five girls and three boys are still living.

Uncle Robert had been a faithful member of the church a long time. He joined the Methodist church at Soul's Chapel forty-four years ago, and about six years ago he connected himself with Etowah Baptist Church.

Uncle Bobbie was a poor man and no fine large marble slab will mark his last resting place here on earth, but he has gone to that world on high where there is no distinction made between the rich and the poor and wears a crown furnished all true christians and is at rest.

"At rest in Jesus' faithful arm,
At rest as in a peaceful bed;
Secure from all the dreadful storms,
Which round this sinful world are spread."

Arrested for Conspiracy.

Thursday of last week Will Cavender and Foster Thomaston, of Union county, were up before Com. Baker, charged with working in an illicit distillery, together with another man who was so sick the Marshal didn't arrest him. Two witnesses swore that they knew of them working in the distillery and the Com. was about to bind them when they said they wanted to continue the case until they could secure some witnesses. The case was continued until yesterday at noon. In the meantime Cavendar testified that he didn't even know where this illicit distillery was, only from heresay, and affirmed that the two young men had sworn falsely against them.

At the appointed hour for the trial Cavender was promptly on hand, but his other partner, Mr. Thomaston, had also got sick and could not appear in court. The trial as to Cavender proceeded and he swore his witnesses, but they didn't know enough to clear the defendant and he was bound over.

Just as Cavender was preparing to make bond Marshal Harbison told him that he had another warrant against him. After inspecting the warrant a little, the defendant handed it back to the Marshal, asking him to read it out so all could hear it. He did so and those present were not long in learning that Cavender was chaged with conspiracy.

It is claimed that about twelve men went to the house of old man Phillips', in Union county Monday night last and unmercifully whipped his son Albert, who had testified here against Cavender and Thomaston one week ago, also shooting old man Phillips through the hand, and Cavender is charged with being one of the parties.

The trial was set for Monday next and the prisoner carried to jail.

The days begin to feel more like summer now.

Mrs. Stringer is preparing to pay her fine and will like be set at liberty this week.

A HOUSEHOLD TREASURE.

D. W. Fuller, of Canajoharie, N. Y., says that he always keeps Dr. King's New Discovery in the house and his family has always found the very best results follow its use; that he would not be without it, if procurable. G. A. Dykeman Druggist, Catskill, N. Y., says that Dr. King's New Discovery is undoubtedly the best Cough remedy; that he has used it in his family for eight years, and it has never failed to do all that is claimed for it, why not try a remedy so long tried and tested. Trial bottles free at E. C. Cartledge's Drug Store. Regular size 50c. and $1.00.

Howard Shelton Charged With Perjury.

Last Monday Howard Shelton, of Fannin county, who was a witness against Lewis and Ephram Crain, of Lumpkin, charged with illicit distilling, testified a little crooked during the trial, which caused a warrant to be swore out against him by Marshal Harbison, charging him with perjury. He was placed in jail until the Wednesday following when he had a trial before Com. Baker and was bound over and in default of a $500 bond was carried back to prison.

Before the trial these defendants, when told that Shelton was summoned against them, said they were "gone" for he had seen them both working in an illicit distillery, but when the hour of the trial arrived the witness swore that he never knew of them violating the internal revenue law and the defendents would both have been acquitted had there not been other evidence.

Marshal Harbison then gave the two defendants the book and they swore that the witness had seen them at work in an illicit distillery than once. The Marshal then called for a warrant for Shelton, which ended the days proceedings and another man will likely see the inof the national prison in Ohio.

A few more hats and suits of clothes left at H. D. Gurley's at less than cost. These lines I am closing out.

Wedded and Separated the Same Day.

A wedding occurred last Sunday in the Southwestern portion of the county which has caused a good deal of trouble. Instead of being peace and harmony in the household there is trouble throughout the camps, the bride and groom are separated and the father of the girl is under bond charged with unlawful conduct.

Henry Pinion fell in love with one of the daughters of Mr. John Bracket and got the young ladies consent to join with him in the journey of life but her father objected. Pinion was determined not to be disappointed, and by appointment the girl met him at some place where Esquire Chambers, of Mill Creek district, made them man and wife. After which the groom carried the one he had promised to defend and protect until death, to his fathers house.

As soon as Bracket heard of his daughters marriage and her whereabouts, he became very angry and went over to old man Pinions, where he found his daughter and her mother-in-law attending to domestic affairs. He told his girl that she should not live with her husband and she had to go home. The young lady didn't want to go and old Mrs. Pinion raised an objection, which increased Brackets anger at such a rate, that he reared and cursed and it is said, struck the old lady, and then marched the newly married woman in front of him to her former home, where she resided at last accounts.

When the girl's husband and his brother returned home and learned what had transpired, they followed the angry man some distance with pistols, but the one with his daughter paid no attention to them, and proceeded on the way until he reached home with the girl that had disobeyed his orders.

Old man Pinion swore out a warrant against Bracket for his conduct at his house, who waived examination and made bond.

Aunt Hariet Blackwell, daughter of the late Jeroyal Blackwell, died in Wahoo district last Wednesday night.

The negro preacher, who was arrested by ex-sheriff Brookshier and Marshal Anderson two weeks ago and lodged in jail on suspicion of being a murderer for whom a reward was offered, was released yesterday morning on account of being the wrong buck, so far as they were able to learn.

COTTON.

This important crop is not yet in a condition upon which to predicate any estimate as to yield. The planting, however, is from ten to 20 days late. There is a reduction, in round numbers, of 100,000 tons of guano in this state alone compared to last year. The falling off in acreage, compared to last year, is fully 20 per cent. These facts, holding good in a greater or less degree in all the cotton states east of the Mississippi river, warrant the conclusion that we may expect at least only a medium crop of cotton this year, and consequently the farmers may hope for better prices than they received for the last crop.

CORN.

Corn, though planted late, is generally up and looking well all over the state. The acreage, as reported by a large number of correspondents, is 11 1-2 per cent greater than last year, with land well prepared and stands good. I cannot too often urge upon farmers the importance of the absolute necessity of giving this crop especial attention through all stages of growth. Corn will not, like cotton, stand neglect and still reward the farmer with a good crop. It must be well cultivated from the start, or a good crop need not be expected.

OATS.

Little that is favorable can be said of this important grain, which is of so much value as a food crop for stock. The severe cold of the past winter totally destroyed two plantings of the crop, and the lateness of the season, with the difficulty of obtaining seed, deterred a great many from planting the third time. Those that did plant have a good stand and the crop is looking well, though a heavy yield can scarcely be expected from such late planting. The reported average decrease in the acreage is 20 per cent.

WHEAT

Wheat is planted only in the upper portions of the state, and the acreage reported at 4 per cent less than last year. While the crop was injured by the severe cold of the past winter it was not destroyed, as was the oat crop, and the prospect is fair for an average yield.

SUGAR CANE.

There is a slight decrease in the acreage of this crop, compared with last year, caused no doubt by much of the seed cane being killed by the cold. The crop is up, with fair stands and growing well.

RICE.

There is a falling off of 4 per cent in the acreage of lowland rice. There are no reports on upland rice; though, from the large number of inquiries received by this department as to the best method of planting and cultivating it, I have no doubt the acreage has been largely increased.

SORGHUM.

The increase in acreage for the state of this valuable plant amounts to 8 per cent, with good stands and growing off well.

CLOVER AND OTHER GRASSES.

The acreage is reported as slightly greater than last year, which is gratifying. The increase, however, is not great enough. There should be much more land put down to grass in this state than there is at present. No farm should be without a good pasture, and then the wisdom of raising and better stock would naturally follow.

FRUIT.

All descriptions of fruit give promise of an abundant yield this year, and if good prices are realized, those engaged in raising fruit for the market will reap a bountiful harvest. Not only will the large grower be benefited, but on every farm throughout the state the blessing of a good fruit crop will be felt.

STOCK.

The reports on stock as a rule are favorable. In some sections the cattle have been affected with red water, and in others with murrain, and at the request of the department the government of Washington has sent an expert to investigate the causes of these diseases, with a view of prevention, if possible, in the future. There is a gratifying increase in the number of hogs, which encourages the hope that our farmers are determined to raise their own meat in the future.

SUPPLIES.

It is very gratifying to note the large per centage of farmers who have a full supply of corn and hay now on hand. Let us hope that this is an indication of the beginning of a new era in more good old state, and that the day is near at hand when Georgia will cease to import food for man or beast from any other state in the Union.

"RED WATER."

Report on Cases Among Cattle, With Remedies for Prevention and Cure.

Hon. R. T. NESBITT, Commissioner of Agriculture:

Red water (hooma albomonovic), a disease affecting the bovine tribe common to all sections of Georgia, and especially in the spring and summer months—a disease very fatal in its ravages—the reports from different sections of Georgia during the last year would indicate that it has destroyed many entire herds of cattle with no signs of abatement.

In my recent visit to Cherokee county, I found three cases suffering with it. A cow belonging to Mr. Cole, one to Mr. Pinnell's, and age of Mr. Davis. Mr. Davis lost 14; Mr. Freeman lost four, Mr. Bagget lost seven, Mr. Reid lost 18, and many others lost, varying in numbers by the age of the herd. The characteristic symptoms of the disease are loss of appetite, standing somethings with the back arched, the coat looks rough and strong, the cow may be constipated, or the opposite, very loose, the discharges sometimes covered with mucous and again stained with blood; the emissions of urine at times will be red colored or coffee colored; the pulse is quick and strong with high tempe ature. A good deal of nervous twitching in some cases.

The treatment should be—Change the animals at once to another locality; a complete change in food; open the bowels with a quart of lard mixed with one or two ounces of spirits turp. and give all the stock a tablespoonful hypophosphite of soda in feed morning and evening as an antiseptic measure; one ounce chlorate of potash in a quart of water every four hours; drench in quart of water; give alternately with the potash every four hours a tablespoonful of sulphate of iron and powdered gentian. Support the animal's strength with thickened meal and half a dozen raw eggs every day, pure water and anything the animal will eat.

This disease has been very fatal to successful raising of cattle in Georgia for many years, particularly the last two years. That it is due to a bacilli there is little doubt of any doubt. If certainly demands, in the interest of all, that a careful investigation should be made and the true cause located.

Respectfully, J. N. COOK,
Veterinary Surgeon.

REDUCING THE COTTON ACREAGE.

QUESTION 4.—What is your opinion as to the outcome of the cotton situation? Do you think that if the cotton acreage is materially reduced the crop will command high prices next fall?

ANSWER 4.—We think that it is extremely doubtful whether the price of cotton will be at once affected by the reduced acreage, and therefore the farmers should not plant less acreage on the hypothesis of high prices is risking serious loss, if not utter ruin. This is a mistaken view of the entire subject. The main idea in reducing the cotton acreage is to devote more time to those crops which will make the farmer independent. By producing those home supplies we don't expect to make more money, but to have less need for spending it. It is the farmer in debt on whom the hard times press so heavily, because the prices of his commodities have gone on declining, while the interest, taxes, etc., remain the same figure as when his cotton, oats, cotton and wheat were worth and would pay debts of three times their present value.

FORMULA FOR GROUNDPEAS.

QUESTION 5.—Please give me a good fertilizer for groundpeas. I wish to make the best crop of which the land is capable. What proportion of the groundpeas contain, and are there any accessible mills?

ANSWER 5.—Acid phosphate, 1,000 pounds.
Muriate potash, 200 pounds.
Nitrate soda, 200 pounds.
Sulphate of lime, 600 pounds.

There is 38 per cent of gluten in groundpeas. As far as we can ascertain there are only two mills in this country, one in St. Louis and the other in New York. Owing to the fact that other oils are now cheaper, this industry has been almost abandoned. During the war, when we were cut off from other supplies, there were a good many of these mills in the south. Its uses are the same as cottonseed oil, and the cake is also used for stock food. The Spanish groundpeas can be planted after the small grain crops are taken off, and will mature fully before frost.

A Physician's Story.

"PHYSICIAN, HEAL THYSELF." THE ADAGE APPLIED.

Dr. Porter of Kentucky Tells How It was Done.

(From the Mt. Sterling, Ky., Gazette.)

In the mountains of Eastern Kentucky lives Dr. C. H. Porter, who for 47 years has ministered to the sick in the counties of Rowan and Morgan, and has during that time suffered more than many of the patients on whom he called. He was at last cured, and his cure was so startling and miraculous that it was soon the talk of the hills and mountains, and finally reached the Blue Grass. A reporter of the Gazette concluded to investigate in the interest of suffering humanity, and to his question the doctor replied:

"Twenty years ago, while living in Morgan county and practicing my profession, I had a terrible nervous shock that completely prostrated me, and from that time until a few months ago I suffered untold agony, and in fact never knew a well day. I tried everything in the way of medicine that I knew and consulted other physicians for miles around, but I found no relief, and I resigned myself to the inevitable and awaited the end. A few months ago my son saw an account of a new medicine called Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and wanted me to try it. I told him they would do me good, but after using a few doses I felt better, and again hope revived in my breast. I continued taking the pills, and continued to improve, and now I believe I am finally recovered. That is about all of the story. I believe Pink Pills saved my life, and I never fail to recommend them in my practice. In fact, I can tell you of a case that you will pass on your return to-day that has been almost completely cured of rheumatism after years of suffering. Mr. S. G. Bailey, is his name, you can see him and see him."

After thanking Dr. Porter the Gazette man started for Mr. Bailey's residence. He was found on his farm cutting some tree down. In reply to our query Mr. Bailey said: "Yes, Dr. Porter told you the truth. I suffered for years with rheumatism, and was only able to keep around by using crutches, and then was not able to do any work. I was urged by Dr. Porter to try Pink Pills, but had no faith in them. Not until I had finally overcame my prejudices, however, and I am glad of it, for you can see from my appearance what Pink Pills have done for me. Come to the house, and I will show you my wife and children, for I know they will be glad me to lay aside. I have also been giving these pills to a neighbor's child, which has scrofula, and it is improving right along." The address of all the gentlemen referred to is, Mt. Sterling, Rowan county, Kentucky, and anyone can have the statements verified by writing to them. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills contain all the elements necessary to give new life and richness to the blood and restore shattered nerves. They are sold by all druggists, or may be had by mail from Dr. Williams' Medicine Company, Schenectady, N. Y., for 50 cents per box, or six boxes for $2.50.

THE CONSTITUTION'S SPECIAL FEATURES are such as are not to be found in any other paper in America.
The Farm and Farmers' Department, The Women's Department, The Children's Department, are all under able direction and are specially attractive to those to whom these departments are addressed.
Under the editorial management of CLARK HOWELL, its special contributors are writers of such world-wide reputation as Mark Twain, Bret Harte, Frank R. Stockton, Joel Chandler Harris, Opie Read, Sam Jones, Sam Small, and hundreds of others, while it offers from time to time special features by such writers as Bill Arp, Sarge Prentiss, Wallace P. THE GREAT SOUTH AMERICAN NERVINE TONIC AND Stomach and Liver Cure
The Most Astonishing Medical Discovery of the Last One Hundred Years.
It is Pleasant, to the Taste as the Sweetest Nectar.
It is Safe and Harmless as the Purest Milk.
This wonderful Nervine Tonic has only recently been introduced into this country by the Great South American Medicine Company, and yet its great value as a positive specific for many of the native inhabitants of South America, who rely almost wholly upon its great medicinal powers to cure every form of disease by which they are overtaken.
This new and valuable South American medicine possesses powers and qualities hitherto unknown to the medical profession. This medicine has completely solved the problem of the cure of Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint, and diseases of the general Nervous System. It also cures all forms of ill health from whatever cause. It perfumes this by the Great Nervine Tonic qualities which it possesses and by its great curative powers upon the digestive organs, the stomach, the liver and the bowels. No remedy compares with this wonderfully valuable Nervine Tonic as a builder and strengthener of the life forces of the human body and as a great renewer of a broken down constitution. It is also of more real permanent value in the treatment and cure of diseases of the Lungs than any ten consumption remedies ever used on this continent. It is a marvelous cure for nervousness of females of all ages. Ladies who are approaching the critical period known as change in life, should not fail to use this great Nervine Tonic almost constantly for the space of two or three years. It will carry them safely over the danger. This great strengthener and curative is of inestimable value to the aged and infirm, lending its great curative powers to and give them a new hold on life. It will add ten or fifteen years to the lives of many of those who will use a half dozen bottles of the remedy each year.
A SWORN CURE FOR ST. VITUS'S DANCE OR CHOREA.
CRAWFORDSVILLE, IND., May 19, 1893.
My daughter, twelve years old, has been afflicted for several months with Chorea or St. Vitus's Dance, and our doctors could not cure her. She could not talk, could not swallow anything but milk, and could not lie down. Doctor and neighbors gave her up. I commenced giving her the South American Nervine Tonic, and the result was surprising. In three days she was rid of the horrible nuisance, and rapidly improved, and finally cured her completely. I think the South American Nervine Tonic the most wonderful discovered, and would recommend it to everyone. MRS. W. S. REMINGTON.

CRAWFORDSVILLE, IND., June 26, 1893.
My daughter, eleven years old, was severely afflicted with St. Vitus's Dance. We gave her three and one-half bottles of South American Nervine and she is completely restored. I believe it will cure every case of St. Vitus's Dance. I have kept it in my family for two years, and am sure it is the greatest Nervine and Stomach Tonic ever used. Dyspepsia, all forms of Nervous Disorders and Falling Hair, it will drive from whatever cause. JOHN T. MIKE.

INDIGESTION AND DYSPEPSIA.
The Great South American Nervine Tonic
Which we now offer you, is the only absolutely unfailing remedy ever discovered for the cure of Indigestion, Dyspepsia, and the vast train of symptoms and horrors which are the result of disease and debility of the human stomach. No person can afford to let a single day pass while any portion of the stomach is affected by disease of the Stomach, because the experience and testimony of thousands go to prove that this is the one and ONLY ONE great cure in the world for this universal destroyer. There is no case of unmalignant disease of the stomach which can resist the wonderful curative powers of the South American Nervine Tonic.
Harriet E. Hall, of Westmoreland, Ind., says: "I owe my life to The Great South American Nervine Tonic. I had been in bed for six weeks from the effects of an exhausted stomach. Indigestion, Nervous Prostration and a bad case of inflammation of my whole system. Had given up all hopes of getting well. Had taken three doctors and the first bottle of the Nervine Tonic improved me so much that I was able to walk about, and a few bottles cured me entirely. I believe it the best medicine in the world. I could recommend it to everybody."
Mrs. M. Russell, Sugar Creek Valley, Ind., writes: "I have used several bottles of The South American Nervine Tonic, and I consider it the best medicine in the world. I suffered for years from Indigestion and Dyspepsia. They were down and nothing appeared to do them any good until I purchased your medicine. It was very surprising how rapidly they both improved on it. I recommend it to every one to all my neighbors.
Mrs. Ella A. Trutton, of New Ross, Indiana, says: "I can not express how much I owe to The Great South American Nervine Tonic. My system was completely shattered, appetite gone, was coughing and raising blood all the time. I was in the first stages of consumption, an inheritance handed down to me from my mother, who died of it. After taking the Nervine Tonic and continued its use for about six months, and I am entirely well. It has done me more good than all the stomach and lungs I have ever seen.
Ed. J. Brown, Druggist, of Alma, Mo., writes: "Sold South and Nervine Tonic for two years. Several couldn't severely. I only weighed 110 pounds when I commenced using the South American Nervine. I have used two bottles and now weigh 130 pounds and feel better than I have been for two years. Am sure that if you have never tried the Nervine that I can recommend this remedy. My customers say that it has done them more good and buy it eagerly. It gives great satisfaction."

The Cedar Mountain.

She lifts her sunny crest,
Into the azure sky,
Her brow in beauty dressed,
Delights the human eye.

Her base and slopes are clad,
In forest green and bold,
Which make the sad heart glad,
And fill the anxious soul.

Her brow affords a view,
Of all the country round,
Her name unknown to few,
Must never cease to sound.

In spring the leaves appear,
Upon the shrubs and trees,
To me she seems so dear,
While bathing in the breeze.

In summer's brightest hours,
The lofty cliffs do stand,
Like Egypt's famous towers,
They glitter in the land.

When autumn's frost is come,
And turned the leaves to gold,
We fail to hear the hum,
Of insects in the cold,

Winter's winds come at last,
And she is crowded with snow;
There's beauty in the blast,
And all the winds that blow.

And those around her base,
Are ever dear to me,
I never shall erase
Their names, where'er I be.

END OF THE CIVIL WAR.

Officially Stated to Be August 20, 1866.

Washington, D. C., June 3.—The question as to termination of the civil war, raised by Assistant Secretary Reynolds of the Interior Department in a recent pension decision, has given rise to considerable discussion. The case in question was that of John Barleyoung, a soldier, who had entered the army April 19, 1866. H applied for a pension under the three months service act, claiming that the war did not terminate until August 20, 1866, when President Johnson, by proclamation, announced that peace had been restored. Secretary Reynolds claimed that active hostilities ceased in April 1865, nine months before Barleyoung enlisted. He said further: "It is not believed that Congress intended to pension those whose rendition of service, military or naval, had no connection whatever with the belligerent operations of the war, was not upon the theater of the conflict, and had nothing to to with the object and purposes of the war."

For these reasons the claim was disallowed. The effect of the decision is to exclude a large number of persons who entered the service between July, 1865, and May 1866, from the operations of the pension law.

Since the decision was made it has been ascertained that the Supreme Court, in December, 1887, held that the war did not terminate until the date of the President's proclamation, on August 20, 1866. The case then decided was under the "captured and abandoned property act," which authorized loyal owners of such property to bring suit for its recovery in the Court of Claims within two years after the suppression of the rebellion. The court held expressly that the question of date of termination of war was not to be left to each claimant to settle, but was to be determined by some formal public act of the Government; that the first official declaration on the point was the President's proclamation; and that Congress had expressly adopted this date as that on which the rebellion ended

In view of this decision, and the large number of persons involved, the Barleyoung case will probably be reopened.

A PAIR OF SOCKS.

Knit by a Confederate Girl and What They Brought About.

In the winter of 1863, while in quarters, the 39th Ga. Regiment drew some clothing and socks. Most of the clothing of the Confederate soldiers came from the looms and needles of the wives, mothers and sisters at home, and it was a custom of the Southern women to knit socks and send them in to a quartermaster, located in some town near by or some agent, whose business it was to collect such things and send them to the army.

And very often a young lady would attach her name and address to the socks she knit with a request for the soldier who drew them, to write her a letter. This was done to know who would be the beneficiary of their toil, for the cause they loved.

At the time I speak of, a young and gallant soldier of Co. "C," 39th Ga., by the name of Robert S—— drew a pair of socks with a tag on them—knit by Miss Lizzie W—— near LaGrange, Ga.; hope the soldier who draws these will write me a letter. Robert was a volunteer from Whitfield, Co., Ga.

A lively correspondence was begun and kept up for some time.

The Yanks captured Robert's horse and he was cut off from home for some time. Miss Lizzie wrote him, should he be wounded or get sick, to come to her father's house and make it his home. But he was one of the fortunate few who escaped wounds, though commonly in the front; but in the siege of Atlanta and the Tennessee campaign which followed so soon, after, Robert being so busily engaged fighting and marching the correspondence was left off with Miss Lizzie, and then the surrender came and Robert returned to his home in the mountains near Gordon Springs and entered school, and was in school in 1866.

When there was an examination at Villainow, Ga., seven miles off everybody in the surrounding country was there, and among others Miss Lizzie, whose father had sold his farm in middle Georgia after the war and bought another in Armuchee Valley. The day had passed off pleasantly and the first prize for declamation had been awarded to Judson Clements, the present well known politician and all were returning home.

Your correspondent happened to be with Miss Lizzie and we were discussing the pleasures of the day when she asked what handsome young man was that sat in front of her in the church. I told her it was my friend Robert S.; she told me she had corresponded with a young man during the war by that name. I informed her that I was attending the same school with Robert twenty miles off and would interview him on the subject.

I saw him on the following Monday and told him of the young lady, whom he also noticed, on the day of the examination and a mutual admiration had been formed by both. So he dressed in his best and soon called on Miss Lizzie, and you may guess what followed. All from a pair of Confederate socks knit by a patriotic Southern girl.—G. J. in Calhoun Times.

One of the strangest coffins ever told of is that for which the British war department is said to be responsible, says the New York Tribune. The story is that a workman engaged in casting metal for the manufacture of ordinance at the Woolwich Arsenal, lost his balance and fell into a caldron containing twelve tons of molten steel. The metal was at white heat, and the man was utterly consumed in less time than it takes to tell of it. The war department authorities held a conference, and decided not to profane the dead by using the metal in the manufacture of ordnance, and that mass of metal was actually buried, and a Church of England clergyman read the service of the dead over it.

The new clock which was placed in the tower of St. Paul's Cathedral, London, in December, 1893, is the largest in the British Isles. The dials (there are three of them) are each 17 feet in diameter, and the figures upon them are each 2 feet and 9 inches in length. The pendulum is 15 feet long, and the ball at its lower end weighs 700 pounds. It is provided with a Pholps ball which weighs 5½ tons, and the bell is struck by a hammer weighing 299 pounds. Each of the weights weigh 1,200 pounds. The hands are made of pure copper. That which marks the minutes is 9 feet 6 inches in length, the other exactly 5 feet.

A new silver paper is to be started at Columbus Ga., called the Star.

Alexander Carr, of Atlanta will be given another trial for lunacy on the 18th.

A still was captured near Jasper one day last week supposed to have belonged to a woman.

More than one thousand delegates attended the Illinois silver convention last week.

A lady was held up by two negro boys in Atlanta one morning last week and compelled to give up her pocket book.

The choice of the peoples party for 1896 seems to be for President W. V. Allen, of Nebraska, and for vice, Thomas E. Watson, of Georgia.

Moody, the great evangelist will be in Atlanta in November for the purpose of holding meetings. Five thousand dollars will be raised to build a tabernacle.

The following cabinet appointments have been made by the President: For secretary of state, Richard J. Olney, of Massachusetts. For attorney General, Judson Harmony, of Ohio.

A man at Spring Hill, Ga., is buying up all the rabbits he can get to ship to Jekel Island. He has a contract to supply a large number and gives the boys 25 cents a piece for them.

The People's party is the only political organization that is sound and harmonious on the financial question. If silver is ever restored to its place in our money medium, and if the crime of 1893 is ever rebuked, it will have to be done by the People's party.—Dallas Herald.

Lumpkin is the chief gold producing county in the state. In 1893 it turned out about $40,000 worth of the metal, and was followed by Cherokee with about half of that amount. There are some fifteen gold producing counties in Georgia. In 1893 they put out altogether more than $100,000 worth of gold. The opinion has been expressed that the production this year will show an increase approximating 50 per cent.—Sav. News.

Why is that the government always looks out for the interest of the creditor and leaves the debtor to take care of himself? Simply because the men who owe are many and divided, while the men to whom debts are due are few and united. "Business interests" are thus the objects of the government's fostering care, while labor's interests are left to become the prey of the money sharks.—Kansas Star.

The sheriff of Habersham county got so miffed at our article some weeks ago in reference to his reducing the jailor's fees of feeding non resident prisoners ten cents below the amount allowed by law, that he became enraged turned up his feathers reared and snorted and published a card of criticism in last week's Eagle, intimating that our article would never have been seen had it not been copied in some other paper. We are glad to inform the brother that we are not publishing a paper for exchanges alone but have hundred of good paying subscribers, several of whom reside in Habersham county, and that we do not have to make any reduction to get them either.

A very peculiar case of rattlesnake bite is causing much comment at Tweed at present. The little 10-year-old girl of Howard Lee was returning home one night after dark about a year ago, and on the route she had occasion to cross a large branch. A log spanned the run of the branch. She did not observe the bulk toward the end of the log, and as she stepped off the log the bulk, which proved to be a rattlesnake in its coil, struck at her, burying its fangs in the child's foot. On arriving home she began to complain of stinging pains, the foot swelling to immense proportions. Physicians were hastily sent for and medicine prescribed. The wound was cauterized and corded. The child got along nicely until last Wednesday, when the poisonous virus began to manifest itself, the girl being seized with excruciating pains in the stomach, and blood flowed in streams from her mouth. The doctors exerted all their skill, but could not stop the hemorrhage. The child died in great agony Saturday. After the child was bit a search was made for the reptile, and it was trailed a long distance, but never killed.

THE N. G. A. COLLEGE

Commencement Exercises this Week.

The exercises of the commencement are unusually interesting. They show not only faithfulness and painstaking upon the part of the teachers, but faithful and close application upon the part of the students.

MONDAY MORNING.

The prize declamation on Monday, of the first three classes was greeted with a large audience, and while some surpassed others the whole performance was highly creditable.

MONDAY AFTERNOON.

The prize drill on the field was witnessed by an immense concourse of people. To out-siders the performance of both companies seemed to be perfect, but Maj. Dashiell and Adjutant Alexander thought there was better drilling by Company "A," Capt. Kinsey, and so awarded to Company "A."

MONDAY NIGHT.

The entertainment of the Corona Hederae Society was superb. Misses Collinsworth and Craigmiles certainly devoted much judgment and painstaking in the preparation and rehearsals for their performances. The Gesture Recitation, and Waiter Drill was each much enjoyed. The Piano Solos and Duets by Misses Hattie Rodgers, Blanch Cook, Mamie Allen, Allie Blackmer, was artistic indeed.

The whole performance was much enjoyed by a packed house.

TUESDAY MORNING.

The college and community showed quite an enthusiastic interest in the champion debate. The subject discussed is one that is agitating the public mind of the nation. Question, Resolved, "That under the present ballot system, the right of suffrage should be extended to the women of the United States of America." Affirmative, J. W. Kytle, White Co. and C. L. Harris, Dahlonega. Negative, J. P. Cheney and F. B. Barber, both of Cobb Co.

The Judges were Profs. Gaillard and Vickery and Col. Henley, of Jasper, Ga.

Both sides fought manfully. The young men had studied the subject well and presented well nigh every argument on both sides of the question. It was a first class debate, and each was a first class speech.

The Judges gave their decision on the side of the affirmative, at which there was a wild burst of congratulations. And so the question is settled. The women can now vote.

This woman question comes to the front more and more, and it will continue to come. Ten years ago a woman's rights convention in Atlanta would have been hissed out of town, but recently was cordially received and entertained.

TUESDAY AFTERNOON.

War! War!! The sham battle witnessed by hundreds of people was much like "sure enough" war, especially to the old veterans. It brought to them the recollection of over thirty years ago.

The brigade was under command of Maj. Dashiell, who was the commanding General of the occasion. After the battle (with blank cartridges) had waged for some time the Brigade charged the battery down under the hill which was supported by a company of infantry. The battery was taken and the gunners as well as the infantry were seen retreating up to hide through the pine thicket. The cadets showed that they are well trained in the art of war.

TUESDAY NIGHT.

A packed house greeted Rev. Prof. Chas. Lane, who is Professor of English in the Technological College at Atlanta.

He was introduced by Col. M. G. Boyd in a few well chosen words.

Prof. Lane announced for his subject "Humor."

His address was really the history and physiology of laughing.

No description of the lecture could be given. For an hour and a half he had the vast audience at times convulsed with laughter. At times he was grave, then humorous, then judicious. The small boy and the large boys, men and women enjoyed the lecture immensely.

WEDNESDAY MORNING.

Wednesday morning was Prize Declamation by the Sophomore class and Junior Orations. The Sophs all had good speeches, in the opinion of the reporter, J. P. Cheney was best, and C. P. Parsley next.

The Juniors were not only expected to deliver original speeches but they did it. The productions were not only quite literary but eminently practical. W. R. Sinquefield, Oscar Palmour, R. M. Bryson, H. C. Dasher and R. C. Nix were the distinguished speakers, who obtained speakers places by the highest class standing. O. Palmour and R. C. Nix seemed to get all the prize. However, when these young men read their speeches five years to come they will laugh at some things they said. Oscar Palmour will clip the wings of his eagle, perhaps not let him fly at all. Bryan will take the Pope and the Czar out of the center of the earth, and Nix will not plow the ocean quite so deep. Sinquefield will see that mind has made greater conquests than he dreamed of.

WEDNESDAY NIGHT.

A very large audience assembled to witness the closing exercises of the commencement. The Senior orations were of a high order. The graduates are, A. D. Hammock, D. H. Alexander, Miss Ice Roberts, G. F. Pettit, T. W. Seabolt and W. L. Kimsey, the last delivering the Valedictory.

Miss Alice Roberts read a fine paper on what Woman's ambition should be. Miss Mattie Gentry in a few appropriate remarks presented to Miss Roberts a certificate from the Corona Hederae Society.

Mr. Jno. Cheney in a short address presented a certificate of honor from the Phi Nu Society to Mr. D. H. Alexander.

Mr. Oscar Palmer in a few eloquent words presented to Messrs. Kimsey, Pettit and Seabolt certificates of honor from the Decora Society.

Col. W. P. Price presented licenses to teach to a large number of students.

The following prizes were awarded: 1st Prize, Target practice, O. Palmer, 2d Target practice, G. H. Broadnax.

Company Medal, to Co. A. Latin Medal, C. W. Bell. Mathematics Medal, W. C. Wood.

Prizes for declamation. B. Class, E. L. Waddell and Zora LaPrade—a tie.

A. Class, W. W. Collins.

Freshman Class, W. G. Martin.

Sophomore class, C. P. Pursely.

Honorable mention in Latin, W. C. Wood, E. W. Graham, Nona Ware.

In Mathematics, W. R. Sinquefield, G. N. Mitcham.

Dr. Waddell delivered a most eloquent and appropriate baccalaureate, and then delivered to the graduates the diplomas. Several diplomas were in the Business Department awarded by Prof. Gordon. After the exercises there was a general hand shaking, many good-bys, and expressions of good wishes.

Thus closed one of the most brilliant commencements of the North Georgia Agricultural College.

Thirty-Four New Teachers for Georgia.

By an act of the legislature of Georgia of 1877 the N. G. A. College was empowered to grant license to such students, attending the College, as could pass satisfactory examinations, to teach in the common schools of the State.

Since that time over eleven hundred licenses have been issued by the college. In this manner the college not only directly teaches the young men and women who attend its recitations but it indirectly teaches numbers of children at home in the different counties of the state.

It is through this method, if no other, that the college can boast of being one of the most important educational factors in the state.

Many teachers have gone out from her fold that now adorn the head of their profession and through them a great and telling good is being accomplished.

For the purpose of graduating license two examinations are held during the year one each term.

The result of the last examination is thirty-four new teachers for Georgia.

The Seniors and Juniors who make a yearly average of above ninety per cent are given license without further examinations.

Below we give a list of those who will received license this commencement:

The strong point about Hood's Sarsaparilla is that they are permanent, because they start from the solid foundation of purified, vitalized and enriched blood. May

OUR VISITORS.

Some of Those Who Attended the Commencement.

It was our intention last week to record the names of visitors who visited Dahlonega this week, but on Monday and Tuesday they came in so "fast and thick," that we were only able to catch a portion of them on the "wing" as follows:

Mr. Love, of Roswell.
C. Bowen, Tesnatee.
D. Whelchel, of Price.
Emmet Hite, of Atlanta.
Mrs. Cone, of Atlanta.
John Whelchel, of Price.
Col. Dean, of Gainesville.
Dr. Bosworth, of Atlanta.
Taber Robinson, of Price.
J. C. Rogers, of Tesnatee.
Rev. J. F. Pettit, Cartecay.
J. R. P. Sewell, of Livonia.
Miss Ica Waters, of Randa.
Col. J. W. Henley, of Jasper.
Mrs. Sallie West, of Atlanta.
Miss S. Barges, of Garland.
M. K Elrod, of Gainesville.
John O'Kelley, of Tesnatee.
Mrs. Sallie West, of Atlanta.
Mr. John Bell, of Buffington.
A. J. Whelchel, of Murriville.
Miss Lilly Bell, of Cleveland.
M. H. Stephens, of Murriville.
Miss Ida Merck, of Gainesville.
Mr. Cobb and lady, of Ellijay.
J. A. Sullivan, of Marble Falls.
Henry Houser, of Dawsonville.
M. W. P. Palmer, of Landrum.
Post master Kemp, Half Way.
Miss Lula McMullin, Hartwell.
Dr. B. W. Lockhart, of Glades.

BEST FAMILY CATHARTIC. "I have received Hood's Paper Dolls which are given for our trademark from Hood's Pills and ten cents in stamps, and they are much beyond our expectations. I recommend Hood's Pills as the best family cathartic we have ever used, and urge our friends to try them." Jas. V. Faulkner, Five Forks, Ga.

The Daily Mail Line.

For the first time that we had heard that the citizens of Dahlonega desired the Gainesville daily mail to leave here at eight o'clock, or an hour earlier than the present schedule, and the post master refusing to sign the petition, we saw a notice in last week's Nugget. After enquiring of several who desired this change we could not find a single person that knew anything about it or even wanted it. We called on the post master to give us some light on the subject, as to why he refused to comply with the wishes of the people in case it was so. Mr. Gurley informed us that no one ever requested him to sign such a petition except Mr. Meaders, the present contractor, and he told him that he was personally opposed to it but would sign the paper if it was the wish of the citizens. Not long since we had a "slow time schedule" and even then the mail was often behind schedule time. The truth is some of the sub contractors bite off more than they can chew by taking the contract so low that they cannot afford to keep able bodied horses on the route. We are informed that an inspector has been requested to come here for the purpose of looking into the matter.

The Hail Storm.

The hail storm of Tuesday was the heaviest and severest that has visited this section since the year 1860. About noon an angry looking cloud could be seen appearing in the northeast. It approached faster and faster, indicating much wind, and by 12:30 o'clock the storm struck the town. Great trees would bend to and fro, houses trembled and people shook with fear. Rain fell in torrents for half an hour and the ground was white with hail, many of the stones being as large as a man's thumb, doing much damage to vegetation and young fruit. To say that every body felt relieved when the storm abated doesn't express it. Many trees were broken off like small sticks. The wind got under the tin roof of the college, bursted it up, doing considerable damage. The young corn is almost bladeless while other vegetation is damaged equally as bad. A team of Hardie Perdew and another gentleman ran away but fortunately no damage was done. The storm reached from a mile above Dahlonega to a short distance below Auraria. To the right of Auraria it was much severer than at Dahlonega. In the hollows near John Hutcheson's the hail was knee deep and much of it remained until next day.

Commencement Sermon.

The Rev. L. G. Johnson, Pastor St. James Church, Augusta, preached the Commencement sermon.

His text was Collossians 2, 10,—"Ye are complete in him." It would require too much space to give a synopsis of the sermon. The universal testimony was that the sermon met the requirements of the occasion, and even surpassed what was expected. The students especially were lavish in their expressions of appreciation of the discourse.

The leading thought of the sermon was that nations and individuals, ignoring the christian religion—Christ as its source and center, always fail soon or late. He showed according to history that the nations of the earth began to decay at the top when highest in learning and mental culture; that there is no completeness in national or individual life except in adhearing to Christ, His doctrines and precepts.

Mr. Johnson preached an able sermon also at night.

He is a young man of fine personal appearance, seemingly not more than thirty.

He was brought up in Madison County, Georgia. Entering the Ministry in Georgia he was transferred to the Arkansas Conference. Returing from that state he retired from the regular ministry and entered Emery College, where he devoted himself especially to the study of the languages.

About the time he re-entered the ministry he was wedded to Miss Carrie M. Parks.

We predict for the young minister a bright future and a useful life.

John Redmond Shot by Sheriff Pruitt.

News reaches us just before going to press that Sheriff Pruitt dangerously wounded John Redmond in the edge of Hall county yesterday morning, while endeavoring to arrest him on two warrants, one for an assault with intent to murder and the other for misdemeanor. The ball—41 Colts—entered one of his hips, passed through the body and into his thigh. It is thought he will die.

Jay Jabbers.

ED. SIGNAL:—

Several of the Jayites attended meeting at Oak Grove last Sunday, your correspondent being one of the number. The church communed and washed feet. The attendance was large. The good people of that vicinity carried their dinners and spread their tables under the beautiful shade trees that surround their church, and was served in regular pic nic style.

Col. Culliders is now preparing to furnish fish packed in ice on short notice.

A certain young man of Hightower district, says there is but little dependence to be put in the female sex, as he had engaged the company of a certain young lady to escort her home from church, but when he stepped up by her side she cried out with a loud voice, saying, "No!" But this young man was not to be cut done. He offered a nice present to any girl who would accompany him to church. The next Sunday the young man presented her with a beautiful calico dress. The young man says he hopes it's bread cast upon the waters to be gathered up not many years hence.

By a recent ruling of the Secretary of State the young man who was mentioned some time ago as anticipating making application for a pension for injuries received at a grist mill, will likely fail to get his claim through. If he fails to get a pension he will be the most unfortunate person on earth as the 23rd chapter of Deuteronomy deprives him of all future enjoyments.

The N. G. A. College.

This term completes the twenty-second year of the N. G. A. College's active work and below we give a brief account of its history:

The records of one year are wholly lost, but for the remaining twenty-one there have been over 4,300 entrances, of which about one fourth were females. Of course these figures do not represent the actual number of students, for many have attended several years successively from their entrance to graduation, therefore their names appear in the catalogue from year to year during that time.

These figures show an actual annual attendance of about 210 during the twenty one years.

These students have been sent from nearly every county in the state, and from 20 other States of the Union, which clearly shows that his Institution is not of mere local interest, as some erroneously suppose.

Prior to 1878 there were no graduates but from then 'til the present time there have been 89 graduates, all of whom will compare in competency with the graduates of any institution of Ga. Since the Trustees were empowered to grant Teachers Licenses in 1878, there have been about 700 Licenses granted. It is thus that the N. G. A. College furnishes a large number of the teachers of the state. If only one half of this number engaged in teaching, one could form some idea of the great number of children of the state whom this College has indirectly reached.

These results can but be gratifying in the highest degree to the friends of the Institution and should easily command the favorable consideration of the General Assembly of the State of Ga.—Phi-Palaestra.

Time for Pruning.

ED. SIGNAL:—

Again we ask you to grant us a small space in your paper to call attention to the fact that any time from now up to the 22nd of June all fruit trees, as pear, apple and peach trees as well as the grape vine, can be pruned with as much to the safety as any other time of the year. Remember however when you trim the tree do not tear the limb off, but cut it smoothly near the body of the tree, that the wood may heal up quickly. Cut off the young grape branches in the two leaf stems of the last bunch of grapes.

Fruit trees can be budded and side grafted during this season successfully, and even transplanted but in doing so the leaves must be clipped off to insure them to live. On the longest day in the year the bark may be pulled off entirely from around the body of the apple tree for a foot or so in length and yet the tree will live and do well.

Untold A...

Every Limb Ached With Muscular Rheumatism

A Perfect Cure by Hood's Sarsaparilla.

The cause of rheumatism is lactic acid in the blood, which accumulates in the joints, and gives the victim such dreadful pains. Hood's Sarsaparilla neutralizes the acid, purifies the blood and thus cures rheumatism.

"Five years ago I had my first attack of lumbago or muscular rheumatism. I was in bed two weeks. I had a good physician but he did not do me any good. A friend recommended Hood's Sarsaparilla and I sent for a bottle. At that time I ached in every limb, especially in my back and hip. I felt as though I had a chill and for a few hours at night it was impossible to sleep. I suffered untold agonies. Constipation was not the least of my troubles. I commenced to take Hood's Sarsaparilla and felt a decided change in three days. I was able to go out of bed

Sheriff's Sales.

GEORGIA, LUMPKIN COUNTY.

Will be sold before the court house door, in Dahlonega, in said county, on the first Tuesday in July, 1895, within the legal hours of sale, to the highest bidder for cash, the following property to-wit:

Lots of land Nos. 74, 75, 76, 121, 140 and 141 in the 13th district North half 1st section of Lumpkin county, Ga., each lot containing 40 acres more or less. Also all pipes, tools and mining apparatus on said property. Said property levied on as the property of The Blooms Gold Mining Co. to satisfy an execution issued from the Superior Court of said county, in favor of W. A. Sherrill against said Blooms Gold Mining Co. June 7, 1895.

Also at the same time and place to the highest bidder for cash, lots of land Nos. 89 and 41 in the North half of the 19th district and 1st section of said county, Ga., each containing 40 acres more or less. Said property levied on as the property of N. C. Tankersley, to satisfy an execution issued from the Superior Court of said county in favor of the Frank W. Hall Merchandise Co. against said N. C. Tankersley. June 7, 1895.

Also at the same time and place to the highest bidder for cash, lots of land No. 325, 7-8 of 321 and 1-2 of 314. All in the 15th district and 1st section of said county, each lot containing 40 acres more or less. Said land levied on as the property of Rachael C. Medford to satisfy an execution issued from the Superior Court of said county in favor of Bagwell & Gower Mfg Co. against said Rachael C. Medford.

Also lot of land No. 736 in the 12th district and 1st section of said county. Levied upon to satisfy a fi. fa. from the Superior Court of Lumpkin county, upon a foreclosure of a mortgage given, in favor of Robert L. McDonald vs. D. S. Paul, H. C. Gullett, J. F. Lester, O. O. Stewart and the Lumpkin Nudi Gold Mining Company, defendants. Property mentioned in the lien as defendants' property and for improvements upon said lot of land, while belonging to said defendants. June 7, 1895.

Dahlonega Signal.

DAHLONEGA, JUNE 14, 1895.

Mr. A. W. Meaders, after an absence of several months, teaching school, is at home again.

The photographer is here now. You will find the frames for your pictures at the Drug Store.

Miss Birdie Meaders has returned to her home in Dahlonega a graduate of the LaGrange Female College.

L. W. Cochran will pay the highest market price for dry and green hides, delivered in Dahlonega. 2t.

Mr. Homer Strickland, who is now in business in Swainesboro, is up on a visit of a month or so, to his parents in Dahlonega.

We are informed that Mr. Jap. Williams, of Union county, anticipates becoming a citizen of Dahlonega about the first of September next.

Messrs. Moore, Clements and [illegible] have every thing in readiness—the machinery at the celebrated preacher lot, which is expected daily.

The new boat in the Chestatee river, near New Bridge, has been completed for several days and will be put in operation as soon as the pump is received.

The spring session of our college has come to a close, the students have gone to their respective homes and Dahlonega presents a much duller appearance.

Just received at J. F. Moore's the best, prettiest and cheapest line of ready made clothing in Dahlonega. Go and get you a suit before they are all gone.

Elsewhere will be found a couple of articles concerning the N. G. A. College, which will give our readers some idea of what this noble institution is doing for Georgia.

A female struck the lamp at the colored church the other night while shouting during the revival and bursted it. She must have been in good faith for the fire was put out and the meeting went on as if nothing had happened.

It is made the duty of the chancellor of the University to visit the commencement exercises of the N. G. A. College, but this is a duty he has neglected to perform for quite a number of years. If the present chancellor can't afford to come and see us on business some man ought to be put in his place that can.

Prof. Gaillard has again been elected by the board of education of Dawson county expert at the Teacher's Institute which convenes in July. This is the second time in succession the Professor has been elected to fill this position in that county which is sufficient evidence within itself to prove that he gives entire satisfaction.

The members of the Baptist Church will decide at a meeting to be held on the 2nd Saturday in July, where to build their new church. Col. Price has agreed to donate what is known as the "Sallie Hall" lot on Chestatee street. If this is accepted the old church and lot will be sold and the proceeds of the sale used in the erection of the new one.

The students of the N. G. A. College have a movement on foot to endeavor to get an appropriation from the state, when the legislature meets for the purpose of building a literary society hall. The state has been appropriating money to the university to erect a gymnasium, now it is nothing more than justice to donate a sufficient amount for the purpose of building this hall.

Last Saturday cadets George and Mitchell were up before Mayor pro tem McAfee charged with exploding a cannon fire cracker at a late hour one night last week, which is in strict violation of the ordinances of our town. There was none but circumstancial evidence against the boys, but they were required to pay a fine of one dollar each and cost, making $5 in each case. Mr. Hargis, another cadet, not wanting innocent parties to suffer, plead guilty to the offense and was fined $1 and cost, and the others were relieved.

Mr. John W. Jenkins has our thanks for a mess of large Irish potatoes of this years raising.

Apply to the Drug Store to know how to save your chickens from hawks and chicken cholera.

The friends of Mr. T. W. Seabolt, who graduated this week, presented him with a Standard Dictionary costing $22.

Rev. John W. Rider, of Dahlonega, will preach the funeral of Mrs. Louisa Roberts at Pleasant Hill church on the 5th Sunday of the present month.

Wm. Marr, who had many relatives and friends in Lumpkin, died in Dawson county on the 22nd ult. Thus a good man and another old confederate soldier is gone.

Rev. James W. Parks, Principal Norcross High School will preach in the Methodist church next Sunday morning at 11. A. M. This young man is spending a few weeks with his parents at the parsonage.

Among the visitors to our office this week was Prof. J. D. Parks, principal of the Norcross High School. The professor is a son of Rev. W. A. Parks, of Dahlonega, and a person is not long in deciding after seeing the gentleman and hearing him talk, that he is the right man in the right place when in charge of a college.

We regret to learn that Mr. R. N. Mayes, who resides in the eastern portion of Lumpkin county, had the misfortune to lose his house and nearly all its contents last Saturday by fire. Mr. Mayes was in the field some distance from the house when it caught from the chimney or flue. His wife called but did he not hear and before one of his children could go and tell him it was too far gone when he arrived to extinguish it.

The twenty-third annual catalogue of the N. G. A. College is just out. It contains fifty-two pages of valuable information concerning the college and is one of the nicest catalogues ever sent out by the trustees of this institution. In fact its neatness has never been excelled by any institution in the South, not even the University of Georgia. In it appears the picture of the college building and the interior of the various departments of the institution and the batallion of cadets, etc., which make it unusually interesting.

Among the distinguished visitors to Dahlonega during the commencement exercises of the N. G. A. College was the Hon. J. E. Mercer, present State Senator from the 7th Senatorial District. Senator Mercer was appointed by the President of the senate, as one of the visiting committee to our college. He hails from South Georgia and is one of the leading spirits in our present general assembly in the full and complete development of our great state in all of its varied resources. Senator Mercer is the author of the bill providing for the present geological survey of the state and while he is directly and deeply interested in draining the swamps of South Georgia, yet he is broad and liberal enough to help develop all other sections. The Senator was warmly welcomed by all of our people who would gladly welcome him into our midst again.

Prof. Vickery has purchased the Gaillard house and lot on the hill near the college.

Mr. Robert Meaders, after an absence of several weeks from the city, has returned.

Marshal Harbison carried young Shelton, who was recently bound over by Com. Baker, charged with perjury, to Atlanta last week.

We noticed with pleasure this week the faces of a number of old students who went to college here many years ago. This shows that they still have a warm place in their breasts for the old college on the hill.

More than three wagon loads of people attended the interesting services at Oak Grove church last Sunday from Dahlonega. A foot washing took place and the meeting held until near four o'clock in the afternoon.

The teachers license of Wm. Head have been revoked by County School Commissioner McGee, charged with conduct unbecoming a school teacher, which came to light during a trial at the last term of Lumpkin Superior Court.

When Maj. Dashiell leaves Dahlonega this time he will not return. He will be sent to some other point but the location is not yet known. A new Major will be sent here to take charge of the military department of the college next fall, but we are unable to give his name at this early period.

The last issue of the college paper appeared last Saturday until the fall session of the institution opens, at which time its publication will be resumed. This issue was double the former size, full of valuable information about the college which will prove of great benefit to the institution.

Col. Price left home Monday for the purpose of attending the college exercises, but by the time he reached his office he became so unwell that he had to return home and take his bed, where he remained until the next day when he recovered sufficiently to attend the remainder of the exercises.

Last Sunday while a little son of Tom Barker was eating dinner a cat bit him on the foot. It hurt but very little at the time and nothing more was thought about it until some time afterwards when it began swelling and by night had almost reached double its former size. Dr. Castleberry was sent for who remained with the boy all night treating it.

Mr. Henry McNamus, of New York, was in the city last Saturday. We are informed that the object of his visit is to resume work at the Garnet mine in this county, which has been idle for a number of years. It is stated that the company do not anticipate repairing the old stamp mill on the river but will erect one near the vein which will be run by steam.

Monroe Teague, son of John Teague, of Union county, commenced to run away from his father last year and has continued it at interval ever since. His father would follow and bring him back but the boy only remained until he got a good opportunity to leave. At last he hired him to Dot Gaddis, of this county, thinking that he might do better. But it made no change in the boy, for he has run away twice, the last time before he departed—being last Friday—he broke open the trunk of his employer and carried away some money and clothing.

In the absence of Mr. McNelley last week, Rev. W. A. Parks took up the quill and got out an interesting paper.

Mr. Al. Roberts will ring the college bell on every other Monday at exactly 12 o'clock at noon until school opens, so that our citizens may be able to keep the correct time.

Mr. J. P. McGee showed us an old metal badge last Sunday, which some of his children recently found bearing the date of April 12, 1777 on one side and has Henry Clay stamped on the other.

Col. J. W. Henley, of Jasper, and Dr. Lockhart, of Glades, two students who went to college here eighteen years ago, visited Dahlonega this week. They were class mates and hadn't met each other since they separated here at that time.

The amount of blockade liquor brought to town this week was small but the "devilment" in it was great. A guest of one of the Dahlonega hotels got so full of it and wild and funny Monday afternoon that he promenaded the front porch dressed in a night suit, carrying a pistol in his hand, using language not heard in Sunday School until the proprietor arrived at the scene and put a quietus to the performance.

A difficulty occurred one day last week between Arleva Clark and Mrs. Pittman, which caused Mr. Sam Smith, Mrs. Pittman's brother-in-law, to become interested, which resulted in the issuing of an assault and battery and two or three peace warrants. Attorneys were employed by both sides and the investigation was to have been heard by a Justices of the Peace last Monday, but before the hour arrived for the hearing, the case was compromised and the cost all settled which is probably the best for all parties.

Squire Walden loaded himself with whiskey last Monday evening just about dark and amused himself by firing off his pistol in the outskirts of town. His sport continued but a short while until he was located by the police and run down, captured and placed in the lock-up. During the night he raked up a pile of trash in the floor and lit it with a match, which came near resulting in Walden's death. About twelve o'clock he attracted the attention of some one by his loud cries for help, that he was burning up. Marshal Anderson was aroused who went to the prison and unlocked the door as soon as possible and found that the prisoner was suffering by the intense smoke. The fire was extinguished and Walden was removed to the new jail. Next morning he was taken before the Mayor and sentenced to pay a fine of $10 or labor on the streets ten days, and bound over in a bond of $100 for carrying concealed weapons. Then he was taken back to prison.

THE COWPEA AS A FERTILIZER.

Results of Some Recent Experiments Made at Home and Accounts of Tests Abroad Which Are of Interest to Every Tiller of the Soil—Hints About What to Do This Month.

The cool weather during the second and third weeks in May and more especially the high winds, have somewhat retarded progress in working out the young corn and cotton, but the escape from a killing frost enables us to bear the losser evil with equanimity; the more so when we realize the total destruction of every green and tender plant farther north. The frosts as high or latitudes is reported as entirely lost, and truck gardeners are again bemoaning the destruction of their hopes.

In Georgia, the fruit and truck crops are still intact, and while there may be some loss from falling off of the fruit, this, owing to the very heavy crop, may not be considered as altogether a disadvantage. Throughout the state the crops as a rule are, if somewhat backward, in good condition, and we are encouraged by the hope of a bountiful harvest.

Owing to unusul conditions, June has come upon us almost unawares. It is in this month that the critical work on the corn crop must be completed, and small grain crops harvested; the earlier planting of various minor crops, potatoes, peas, spanish ground peas and forage crops give proper cultivation, the cotton kept clean and the later planted crops of the several varieties granted an encouraging beginning.

The work on the main area in

will be finished up this month. After this, it matters not what mistakes are in cultivation may have been, they cannot be remedied. The man who has given time and care to thorough preparation has now a comparatively easy task in "laying by" his corn crop. The plants will be growing rapidly, and whatever plowing is necessary will be done with a shallow plow, thereby leaving the roots undisturbed and killing only the grass and weeds which may have sprung up.

At this season the corn is bunching, and between this and the tasseling period the last plowing should be given, unless the hard, dry nature of the land makes a later plowing an absolute necessity. This should, however, not be deferred later than the appearance of the tassels, as any disturbance after that time causes injury to the crop and diminution in the yield. If the corn crop is dismissed the last of June in a clean condition, and the subsequent growth of weeds or grass will not materially injure the forming ears; but as this growth will inevitably occupy the intermediate spaces, why not keep it down by broadcasting peas? They take very little more of the food and moisture than the spontaneous growth would, and return full measure and more for everything which they appropriate. About a bushel to the acre broadcast at the last plowing will distribute the peas evenly over the land, and thus the nitrogen and humus, of which most of our land stands so much in need, and which the peas furnish in such abundant measure, are more uniformly distributed than if a single row of peas planted in the middles. Some low growing variety which will not run up on the stalks of corn is to be preferred. If the corn was planted in the water furrow, and during the cultivation the dirt has gradually been thrown around the stalks, it can now be laid by perfectly flat, thus exposing less surface for evaporation; the brace roots will have taken a deeper hold, and when the peas begin to shade the ground the crop is left in the very best condition to resist all the variations of wind and weather.

PEAS.

This crop as a renovator of worn soils, and as furnishing stock food of the very highest value, may well be termed the agricultural hope of the south. It is no panacea, neither is any other single preparation nor very rich land is called for. With the help of a little phosphate and potash it will grow a remunerative crop on land which will scarcely pay for the seed and cultivation of any other crop, and besides leave in the soil a residium of nitrogen and humus, by which other and more exceeding crops can be successfully built up.

There has been issued from the Georgia experiment station through the horticulturist, Mr. H. N. Starnes, a most valuable bulletin on fertilizer and variety tests of cowpeas, a copy of which should be in the hands of every intelligent farmer. Write to Captain R. J. Redding, Experiment, Spalding county, for a free copy.

From Mr. Starnes' report we quote the following, trusting that it may stimulate research and influence those farmers who have not received or applied for the bulletin:

The experiments by Prof. Hellriegel at Bernburg, Germany, have thrown a flood of light upon the subject. The discovery has been made that a definite relation subsisting between certain microorganisms and the acquisition of nitrogen by legume crops. By a series of carefully planned and skillfully executed tests with sterilized sand, Prof. Hellriegel has established almost beyond question that the germs of microbes affecting the roots of the legume family are the product of microbes or bacteria, through whose instrumentality in cooperation atmospheric nitrogen is acquired and stored. This function of the microorganisms forming the root galls is beyond dispute, whether these organisms are bacteria or not. Their mode of obtaining and transferring the nitrogen, however, is as yet inscrutable.

The fact has been definitely established, also, by the tests alluded to, that wherever these root galls are the crobes are present—and they exist in nearly all cultivated soil—the legume is practically independent of a supply of nitrogen, either in the soil or administered as a manure. In sterilized sand supplied, of course, with all the other elements of plant food except nitrogen) the young plant will germinate and grow vigorously until it has exhausted all of the nitrogen in the seed, when the growth is checked or stunted for a while until the rootgalls or tubercles have an opportunity to form, and the microorganisms begin to get in their work, when the plant at once commences to change color, and again grows vigorously to maturity, even where the sand is sterilized by a heat of 318 degrees F. In this treatment no attempt is made to exclude the bacteria. Where the apparatus is so arranged as to prevent their access, the plant droops and dies.

The fact being thus established that the legumes are capable of deriving their supply of nitrogen from the air, four-fifths of which consists of this element, chemically uncombined, it should materially encourage the agriculturist. With some 38,000 tons of pure nitrogen resting on every acre of his farm, never diminished or changing, and renewable as fast as used, he has thus presented ready to hand, a supply so exhaustless that the Chilian nitre looks sick into utter insignificance beside it. He need no longer dread the ultimate exhaustion of his pitiful subsoil reservoir, but rest calmly in the faith that as long as the heavens endure, his chief and costliest element of fertility is secure.

Nor is this all. Formerly it was supposed that by far the greater portion of the manurial legumes, especially the cowpea, was contained in the vines, and only a relatively small proportion remained in the roots and stubble. It is now deemed necessary to return the vines directly to the land in order to secure a maximum benefit, their value as feeding stuff being thereby lost.

This misconception, however, has now been quite effectually corrected by numerous tests and experiments conducted by both the Connecticut (Storrs) experiment station and the Georgia experiment station. The former station has shown that a much larger proportion of nitrogen than was at first supposed is contained in the roots and stubble, and that the vines may be used for forage with economy, provided the stubble is plowed under.

* * * * *

This being the case, the mission of the cowpea broadens, and its value and importance increase proportionally. That it stands to-day at the head of all soil renovators—at least for the south —is beyond question. Its preeminence over clover and other legumes is due mainly to the fact that it will grow and thrive on the poorest soils, which clover will not do. When land is too much worn will grow clover successfully it doesn't need renovation; it is the worn out, thin, galled land, of course, that most requires manuring. Clover would unquestionably build up such land if it could be induced to grow there, but it will not grow there. Cowpeas will.

1. The best disposition of a crop of cowpeas is to convert the vines into hay (or ensilage.)

2. The next best is to permit the peas to ripen and gather (or pasture them.)

3. Mowing the vines and permitting them to lie on the surface and plowing under in November was decidedly better than turning the vines under in August.

4. Turning the vines under green gave the poorest economical results.

* * * * *

1. It is money thrown away to apply any form of nitrogenous fertilizer to the cowpea crop if it is possible, where that a very light top dressing of nitrate of soda may prove an exception if seasonably applied at the period of suspended growth.

2. The use of potash salts in large quantities is unprofitable, and even in small quantities will not pay in the oak and hickory region of the south. On other than oak and hickory lands small doses may prove profitable in conjunction with acid phosphate, and the longer the land has been in cultivation, the greater becomes this profitable use, as in the oak and hickory belt.

3. Heavy applications of any form or combination of fertilizers are unprofitable.

4. The moderate use of unconbined potash and acid phosphate will be proven the best results from an economical standpoint.

5. As between superphosphate (sold phosphate) and Florida soft phosphate (unacidulated ground rock) results indicate decided preference for the former, so far as the growth of vines is concerned.

6. There is less difference observable between the use of the Florida soft rock and the acidulated, but the superphosphate still appears to be preferable.

7. The finely pulverized condition of soft rock phosphate is a great objection to its use, rendering it extremely difficult to handle without loss.

8. There is not a sufficient difference in price between the two forms of phosphate to render soft phosphate at present an active competitor to acid phosphate, unless the ascertained results were more emphatic in its favor. Their comparative availability must be considered, considered an open question, to be definitely settled only by farther experimentation.

* * * * *

1. The quantity of acid phosphate which may be safely depended upon differs, of course, with the character of the land. The better the soil in its mechanical composition as well as in its chemical contents) the greater the amount that may be profitably used. A range of from 200 to 400 pounds per acre will probably cover all contingencies.

* * * * *

1. The earliest cowpea, and hence the variety best adapted to high latitudes, is the New Era. It matures in a little more than 60 days from time of planting. Other very early varieties are Congo, White Giant, Chocolate and Whippoorwill.

2. The heaviest yielder of vines is Red Ripper, followed closely by Forage or Shinney. Both are late varieties.

3. The heaviest producers of peas are Unknown, Calico, Clay and White Crowder.

4. The yield of peas, as a rule, though not invariably, parallels the yield of vines.

5. For hay, the erect varieties are preferable to those of a recumbent habit, since the mower cuts them all. The best of the erect varieties are the Unknown, Clay and Whippoorwill.

6. Where a dense mass of vines is wanted to remain all winter on the ground, Calico, Gonrd, Black and Cottstition are preferable.

7. The best table peas are Sugar Crowder, White Crowder, Mush, Large Lady, Small Lady and Rice.

8. The best stock pea for field grazing of either cattle or hogs is the Black. It will remain in ground all winter without injury. Everlasting, Red and Red Ripper are also good.

9. For an "all purpose" pea the Unknown leads the list. Clay, however, closely contests first place. Unknown and Wonderful are identical.

Do not these facts and data not our own experience, where we have tested this crop, teach us that the pea is of sufficient importance, not only to be sown in the corn as a secondary crop, but to demand a place of its own as a distinct and separately cultivated source of profit?

After the small grain is harvested the land can be utilized with great advantage in a crop of peas, sown either broadcast or in three feet rows. By the latter plan sometimes one and always two plowings with a scooter will do the necessary work. If the peas are broadcast and plowed in the crop of crabgrass hay, which comes simultaneously with the pea crop, offsets nothing from its value for hay and renders its successful curing a matter of less uncertainty. The same may be said of any field unoccupied by other crops.

SPANISH GROUNDPEAS, CANE, ETC.,

should be planted by June 1, but a good crop is often made when planted as late as the middle of the month. Ambor cane planted now will be ready for feeding in September, and recent experiments show its high value when not only for hogs, but for dairy cows. Horses and mules are also very fond of it, and when well cured keep in a great abundance. Mixed with some dry food it cannot injure. Forage corn can still be planted and will be ready in time for the silo. Too little attention has heretofore been given to ensilage, but with the increasing interest in good raising and feeding it must not be long before almost every farm will have its quota of well cured and cut green food for winter feeding.

ORCHARDS,

too, should be looked after and not allowed to grow up in rank grass and tall weeds that take up a large part of the fertilizing power of the soil. Orchards should be cultivated as well as the other fields, and the latter part of this month a crop of peas broadcast will not only keep down all other foreign growth, but prove a wonderful renovator. In the fall the vines may be turned in to gather the crop, or the vines may be allowed to decay on the land, and when turned under later will furnish a fresh and vigorous start upon which will gladden our eyes and palates in the abundant fruit crop of the succeeding year.

COTTON.

This crop should be growing apace. Frequent and shallow plowings will now penetrate only moderately. Where up to the row with a 20 inch scrape, or one with an expanding cultivator or 22 inch scrape will do the work very effectively. When the fruit begins to form the intervals between plowings can be lengthened because we want the plant to throw all its strength into the fruit and bolls and redundant foliage, or rapid growth is not desired. Even after the fruit begins to form if the cotton is too much crowded don't hesitate to thin it. In the usual summer drouth the crowded cotton always suffers most.

Our inquiry columns this month cover a large variety of subjects, each of interest to the men who "digs his living from the ground."

R. T. NESBITT, Commissioner.

A Physician Talks.

THE REMARKABLE STORY AND AFFIDAVIT OF DR. LEWIS BLUNDIN.

Afflicted with Paralysis for Twenty-five Years—A Case of World Wide Interest.

(From our Stockdale, Pa., Telephone Times.)

Lewis D. Blundin was born in '41 at Bridgewater, Pa., and is now a resident of Hulmeville same state. He went through the war as private, sergeant and hospital steward of Company C, 28th Pa. Volunteers. As a result of an attack of typhoid fever at Ga., his kidneys became affected and this finally developed into spinal disease, which lasted through his entire army term. He was mustered out and entered Jefferson Medical College, Phila., as a student from which he graduated two years later. The remainder of the story is best told in his own words:

"One day, after I had graduated, I was lying on a sofa at my home in Manayunk, when I felt a cold sensation in my right limbs as though the blood had suddenly left them. When I tried to move them I was horrified at the discovery that I was paralyzed from my hips to my toes. The paralysis was complete so far as the control of the flesh caused no pain. I could not move a muscle. I called in Dr. William C. Todd, of Philadelphia. He made an exhaustive examination of my case, and announced that my trouble was caused by inflammation of the spinal cord, and that I would likely have another stroke of paralysis. I consulted Dr. J. P. Dawson, Dr. Clement Dawson College, Philadelphia, and Dr. Morehouse, of Philadelphia with the same result.

"One day last September I decided to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. I had always been troubled with a sort of vertigo after my first stroke of paralysis to such an extent that when I got out of my bed my head would swim and I had difficulty in saving myself from falling. My appetite was poor. Digestion was poor, and no assimilation of food. In addition to my many other ailments, rheumatism held a prominent place. In fact, I was a total wreck. I finished the first box of Pink Pills I was comparatively free from these minor ills, I first one box and then another until the pills got to work upon the foundation stones of my trouble—paralysis. I had taken the six boxes of pills, I was sitting in my chair and one afternoon, when I felt a queer sensation in my right foot. Upon investigation I found it had flexed, or in other words, become movable, and I could move it. From that time on the improvement was steady and it was not long before I was walking around on crutches with little or no assistance. In three years beforetaking the Pink Pills that I had been able to use the crutches only three days and I feel sure that Pink Pills have done me more good than all the doctors and all the medicine I have ever taken, and they are not costly I can easily afford the treatment."

FREE COINAGE
THE PEOPLE'S MONEY—the coinage of both gold and silver, without discrimination, which means the free coinage of both as opposed to the policy of contraction, which has been dictated by England and adopted in Washington, and which levies tribute on every product of the farm, on valuations of all kinds and on all compensations for labor.
THE GREAT ISSUE NOW is the double standard against the single standard—the use of both gold and silver as standard money metals against keeping the currency of the country on the gold basis.
The ATLANTA WEEKLY CONSTITUTION
published at ATLANTA, GA., and having
A CIRCULATION OF MORE THAN 175,000, chiefly among the farmers of the country, and going to more homes than any weekly newspaper published on the face of the earth, is
The Leading Champion of the People in all the great contests in which they are engaged against the exactions of monopoly.
THE CONSTITUTION IS THE BIGGEST AND BEST WEEKLY NEWSPAPER published in America, covering the news of the world, having correspondents in every city in America, and in the capitals of Europe, and reporting in full the details of debates in Congress on all questions of public interest. It is
THE GREAT SOUTHERN WEEKLY NEWSPAPER, and as the exponent of Southern opinion and the purveyor of Southern news it has no equal on the continent.
An enlargement of 12 columns. To meet the demands upon its space for news, The Constitution will increase its size during the summer to 12 pages, 7 columns, making 84 columns each week.
THE CONSTITUTION'S SPECIAL FEATURES are such as are not to be found in any other paper in America.
The Farm and Farmers' Department, The Women's Department, The Children's Department are all under able direction and are specially attractive to those to whom these departments are addressed.
Under the editorial supervision of COL. H. H. HOWELL, its special contributors are writers of such world-wide reputation as Bret Harte, Frank R. Stockton, Joel Chandler Harris, Betsy Hamilton, and hundreds of others, while it offers weekly service from other writers as Bill Arp, Sarge Plunkett, Wallace P. Reed, Frank L. Stanton, and others, who give its literary features a peculiar Southern flavor that commends it to every fireside from Virginia to Texas, from Missouri to California.
During the whole delay and failure to bring the promised relief in financial matters The Constitution has heralded, in season and out, the full news. It has given plain editorial utterances upon the effect of the clamming and misguided policy of wreckage and mere bombs, which events have shown to be prophetic in their unerring directness.
STRAIGHT, CLEAN, UNTRAMMELLED,
THE CONSTITUTION Salutes the free people who insist that the servants of the people shall not become their masters.
By special arrangement the paper publishing this announcement will be clubbed with THE CONSTITUTION at the remarkably low rate announced elsewhere in this issue.

THE GREAT SOUTH AMERICAN
NERVINE TONIC
AND
Stomach and Liver Cure
The Most Astonishing Medical Discovery of the Last One Hundred Years.
It is Pleasant to the Taste as the Sweetest Nectar.
It is Safe and Harmless as the Purest Milk.
This wonderful Nervine Tonic has only recently been introduced into this country by the Great South American Medicine Company, and yet its great value as a curative agent has long been known by the native inhabitants of South America, who rely almost wholly upon its great medicinal powers for every form of disease by which they are overtaken.
This new and valuable South America medicine possesses powers and qualities hitherto unknown to the medical profession. This medicine has completely solved the problem of the cure of Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint, and diseases of the general Nervous System. It also cures all forms of failing health from whatever cause. It performs this by the Great Nervine Tonic qualities which it possesses and by its great curative powers upon the digestive organs, the stomach, the liver and the bowels. No remedy compares with this wonderfully valuable Nervine Tonic as a builder and strengthener of the life forces of the human body and as a great renewer of a broken down constitution. It is also of more real permanent value in the treatment and cure of diseases of the Lungs than any ten consumption remedies ever used on this continent. It is a marvelous cure for nervousness of females of all ages. Ladies who are approaching the critical period known as change in life, should not fail to use this great Nervine Tonic almost constantly for the space of two or three years. It will carry them safely over the danger. This great strengthener and curative is of inestimable value to the aged and infirm, because its great energizing properties will give them a new hold on life. It will add ten or fifteen years to the lives of many of those who will use a half dozen bottles of the remedy each year.
A STUBBORN CASE OF ST. VITUS'S DANCE OF CHOREA.
CRAWFORDVILLE, IND., May 19, 1893.
My daughter, twelve years old, had been afflicted with St. Vitus's Dance or Chorea. She was reduced to a skeleton, could not walk, could not talk, could not swallow anything but milk. I had to handle her like an infant. Doctors could do nothing for her. I commenced giving her the South American Nervine Tonic and she grew better from the very first dose. In three days she was rid of the nervousness, and rapidly improved in health and strength. She is entirely well. I think the South American Nervine the grandest remedy ever discovered, and would recommend it to every one. MRS. W. E. ENSMINGER.

CRAWFORDVILLE, IND., June 2, 1893.
My daughter, eleven years old, was severely afflicted with St. Vitus's Dance or Chorea. We gave her three and one-half bottles of South American Nervine and she is entirely cured. I believe it will cure every case of St. Vitus's Dance. She was down with it for over two years, and am sure it is the greatest remedy for all forms of Nervous Disorders and Building Health from whatever cause. JOHN T. MISH.

INDIGESTION AND DYSPEPSIA.
The Great South American Nervine Tonic
Which we now offer you, is the only absolutely unfailing remedy ever discovered for the cure of Indigestion, Dyspepsia, and the vast train of symptoms and horrors which are the result of disease and debility of the human stomach. No person can afford to pass by this jewel of incalculable value who is affected by disease of the Stomach, because the experience and testimony of thousands go to prove that this is the ONLY and ONLY ONE great cure in the world for this universal destroyer. There is no cure of unmalignant disease of the stomach which can resist the wonderful curative powers of the South American Nervine Tonic.
Harriet E. Hall, of Waynetown, Ind., says: "I owe my life to The Great South American Nervine. I had been in bed for five months from the effects of an exhausted stomach, Indigestion, Nervous Prostration and a general shattered condition of my whole system. I had given up all hopes of getting well. Had tried three doctors with no benefit. The first bottle of the Nervine Tonic improved me so much that I was able to walk about, and a few days more left me entirely well. I believe it the best medicine in the world. I can not recommend it too highly."
Mrs. M. Russell, Sugar Creek Valley, Ind., writes: "I have used several bottles of the South American Nervine Tonic, and will say I consider it the best medicine I ever took. I believe it saved the lives of two of my children. They were down with scarlet fever and nothing but them any good until I procured this remedy. It was very surprising how rapidly they began to improved on its use. I recommend the medicine to all my neighbors.
Mrs. Ella A. Pratton, of New Rose, Indiana, writes: "I was troubled terribly with sick headache until I used the South American Nervine Tonic. My system was completely shattered, appetite gone, was coughing and spitting up blood; am sure I was in the first stages of consumption, as inflammation handed down through several generations. I began taking the Nervine Tonic and continued its use for about six months, and am entirely well. It is the grandest remedy for nerves, stomach and lungs I have ever seen."
Ed. J. Brown, Druggist, of Milan, Mo., writes: "My health had been very poor for years, was confined to my home and bed nearly half the time when I commenced using South American Nervine. I have used two bottles and now weigh 100 pounds, and am much stronger and better every way than I have been for years, and would not have lived through the Winter had I not secured this remedy. My wife says somewhat it has done for me, and buy it eagerly as it gives good satisfaction."

The River of Time.

The River of Time in its onward flow,
Ever logs through the Valley of Tears;
Nor sweeps with the rush, of the sweet Long Ago—
Like it did in the happier years.

Full many a moment on shore or a rift,
Hath the wind or the tide tos'd my craft;
And these, while at rest, I have gazed on the drift,
Sweeping on in an endless raft.

And many's the time with a wistful eye,
I have turn'd tow'rd the rapids up stream,
And longed for the blue of my youth's tender sky,
When the river seem'd a beautiful dream,

Up there, where the current would sing through the hills,
As it danced o'er the sands of the plains,
Embracing the isles in the wealth of its rills,
As it swish'd through the willows and canes

Up there in the sunshine in life's summer time,
When the winters of youth were so mild,
And the days in their joys were a rymth and a rhyme,
When the heart knew the songs of a child.

'Twas there and 'twas then that the water rushed fast,
And the currents bore us swiftly along,
The brighter the day, all the swifter it pass'd,
Into memory, like a half forgotten song.

And oft as I drift on the dark sluggish wave,
As it lurks 'neath the cold sky of sorrow;
My soul's up the stream where the clear waters lave—
And I miss half the gloom of the morrow.

Oh, the River of Time is a wonderful stream,
As it creeps through the Valley of Tears;
For we float in the gloom, yet live in a dream
While we drift in the Ocean of Years.

No Tragedy Like Poverty.

There is no tragedy like that of poverty. No pain can grind the human heart like that which comes to the husband and wife when they face the cold fact that he is out of work, and then look at the tender faces of the little ones, so confident that the father can take care of them.

Yet we know that in thousands of homes in the happy land of America this tragedy is being enacted. If we knew that some friend was passing from house to house killing women and dashing children's brains out, how long would the good people permit it to continue? Yet poverty is worse. The slow, dull agony at heart, the faint flicker of expectation when returning feet or head, that death weight on the heart when she reads on his face "no work!" This is pain which no rich and happy women can understand. One must feel—one must know how cruelly precious a dollar can seem—to understand what real suffering is.

One must realize what it is to be cold and hungry in a city full of happy, careless people who waste their precious money, who revel in and grow tired of the light and warmth and food, for want of which little children ary dying, in order to know the meaning of a real heartache.—Rockville Tribune.

Definition of Home.

A prize was offered recently by London Tid Bits for the best answer to the question: "What is Home?" Here are a few of the answers which were received:

The golden setting, in which the brightest jewel is "mother."

Home is a blossom of which heaven is the fruit.

The only spot on earth where the faults and failings of alien humanity are hidden under the mantle of charity.

The place where the great are sometimes small and the small often great.

The father's kingdom, the children's paradise, the mother's world.

The jewel casket, containing the most precious of all jewel—domestic happiness.

Where you are treated best and you grumble most.

Home is the central telegraph office of human love, into which run innumerable wires of affection, many of which, though extending thousands of miles, are never disconnected from the one great terminus.

The center of our affections, around which our heart's best twine.

A little hollow scooped out of the windy hill of the world, where we can be shielded from its cares and annoyances.

Loved to Sit on the Cross.

The New York Press says, Lafcadio Hearn was just the man to leave his country to adopt Japan. He was forever doing the most unique things. His mind teemed with original ideas on every odd subject. He is always doing something so out of the common as to attract the attention of the world. I do not believe the man knows fear, notwithstanding his over-sensitive nature. I have seen him do things that would make the strongest nerves quake. When a reporter for a Cincinnati paper he often took a bird's eye-view of the city from the top of the highest church steeple. He would climb up inside the spire to the topmost little window, then get on the outside and climb to the foot of the old iron cross that was planted there years ago. Here he would rest a while. Having recovered his wind, he would ascend still higher, till, having reached the arm of the cross, he would anchor himself there, light his pipe, and spend the afternoon in quiet cogitation. The cross was loose in the socket, and in a strong wind rocked considerably. But he rather liked that. From the street below he was a mere speck in the heavens. How he ever got down was a mystery, even to steeple-climbers.

Many persons are broken down from overwork or homebuilding kind BROWN'S IRON BITTERS rebuilds the system, makes digestion, removes appetite and cures malaria. Get the genuine.

$7,500 for a Set of Teeth.

A well-known firm of bankers in London have just made a profitable investment. Some time ago a man who had defrauded them of a large sum of money was taken into custody, convicted and sentenced to a long term of penal servitude.

As may be imagined, the prison fare did not agree with a man who had by means of fraud lived on the fat of the land. The change affected him in many ways, but he complained more particularly of the effect the food had upon his teeth. They were not numerous or in good condition when he was sentenced, and as they rapidly became worse he applied to the governor of the prison for a new set.

He was told that the government did not supply prisoners with artificial teeth, and at the first opportunity he wrote to the banking firm in question, offering if they would send him a new set, to give them some valuable information.

Thereupon the bankers, thinking the offer might be a genuine one, sent the governor of the prison a check for £5 and asked him to provide the convict with a set of artificial teeth.

In due course the convict kept his promise, and sent the bankers certain information, by which they were enabled to recover no less than £1,500, of which they had been defrauded. They naturally regarded this as the best investment they had ever made, but it proved even better than anticipated, for they have just received from the prison authorities a remittance of £1, the teeth having cost only £4. —London Tit-Bits.

A Fortune in the Sweepings.

The Philadelphia Record says: The annual house cleaning at the mint began yesterday, and will be completed by to morrow week. This house cleaning will bring a small fortune to the government, for the dust and refuse swept up during the operation always bears between $20,000 and $30,000 worth of gold. The sweepings of the various apartments and corridors, which have been gathered up from day to day and placed carefully in a barrel, were put into a big pot yesterday and burned up. It will be allowed to cool for two days and will then be powdered and turned over to the assayer. After he is through with it he will find the contents of the old barrel to be worth about $20,000. There is another source of revenue in the sink wells below the washstands, where the operators perform their ablutions after handling the gold blocks. The ooze in the sink wells will also be treated like the sweepings and will probably net about $10,000.

Her Kindness of Heart.

"Madame," he said wearily, "I'm a discouraged man, I am. I've been trying for two days to get arrested so's I could get somethin' to eat an' a place to sleep."

"And haven't you succeeded yet?" she asked sympathetically.

"No'm. I'm hungry and sleepy yet. I've got ter ask fur assistance An' I ain't goin' away till I get it."

"Well," she answered thoughtfully, "I'll help you."

"You will?"

"Yes. My brother-in-law's a policeman, and he'll be home in 15 or 20 minutes. You just hang around here for that time and I'll use my influence with him to have you arrested."—Washington Star.

DAHLONEGA, JUNE 21, 1895.

Entered at the Dahlonega, Ga. P. O., as second class matter.

President Cleveland will attend the Atlanta exposition on the 23rd of October.

A Birmingham letter carrier has been arrested charged with opening a $10,000 package.

The Savannah News is correct when it says that there is need of a jury reform in Georgia.

There are seventy-five witnesses to be sworn in the Will Myers case now in progress in Atlanta.

Ex-Senator J. M. McAfee, of Canton, has been appointed to succeed Mr. Hetherington as a special deputy collector.

The two man who were recently hung in Alabama on the same scaffold, will be exhibited in Atlanta during the exposition this fall by a gentleman who purchased their bodies from the men before they were executed, at ten cents a peep.

When Mr. Bryan was asked at Jackson, Miss., the other day what he would do in case the national democratic convention adopted a gold standard platform, said, "I am as certain the democratic convention will adopt a double standard that I am that I am standing here, but if it does not, if the single gold standard is adopted, I would die in my tracks before I would vote the ticket."

Attorney Julius L. Brown, who as counsel for the receivers of the Western and Atlantic Railroad corporation, made a claim for fees to the amount of $55,000, and was awarded $20,000 by Judge John T. Pendleton, the special master in the case, is not satisfied with his slice, and has entered a plea before Judge William T. Newman excepting from the report of Judge Pendleton and asked for a larger fee than he was awarded.

The Concord (N. C.) News says that a $17,000 gold brick from the Hoile mine, of which Capt. A. Thies is superintendent, was received at the Charlotte mint a few days ago. A few more gold mines yielding as large results in proportion to capital invested as the Hoile mine would soon revolutionize the mining interests of the Piedmont region. Capt. A. Thies has built for himself a monument by opening a way for the utilization of millions of tons of low grade Southern ores.

Topeka, Kan.—A strange incident happened at a funeral near Parsons, Kan., the other day. A little son of Samuel Carson, residing southwest of the city, died and was buried in the neighborhood cemetery. There being no hearse, the remains were placed in a spring wagon and conveyed to the cemetery. On the way to the grave a swarm of bees gathered on the lid of the coffin and there remained. When the cemetery was reached all efforts to drive the bees from the coffin were without avail, and the pall-bearers were forced to take charge of the coffin with the bees swarming around them, and before the remains were deposited in the grave every pall-bearer suffered, being stung in more than one place on the face and hands. The bees clung so tenaciously to the coffin that many of them were buried with the body of the dead boy.

In the hight of commencement season the information comes through the post office department that a firm of publishers is in the business of furnishing graduating speeches and essays ready made to students who care to purchase. The postal authorities have been asked to prohibit the transportation of this wooden eloquence through the mails, but they have no authority to do so. The possibility of the eloquent valedictory of a favorite pupil being bought at a kind of a literary hand-me-down is not calculated to be gratifying to the patrons of colleges. However, there have been more or less illustrious examples of trading at the literary bargain counter set before the dull or indolent college student. It is an open secret that not so long ago there were in Washington men who made their living by furnishing ready made speeches to congressmen, and during the last session of congress we had the spectacle of Senator Clay of Pennsylvania delaying the business of the house with ready made speeches.—Savannah News.

AT DEATHS DOOR.

Gov. H. Y. Atkinson in a Dangerous Condition.

The chief executive of Georgia is now lying in a critical condition, having taken suddenly ill early Sunday morning.

Governor Atkinson had returned from Athens at 4 o'clock Saturday afternoon where he had been attending the exercises of the State University. He went to the executive office and devoted two hours in business which had accumulated during his absense—enjoying his usual health.

The following morning at 3 o'clock the Governor awoke suffering the most intense agony. Dr. Holmes was sent for who was not long in pronouncing it as spendicitis, and did all he could to allay the Governors suffering. Later on six more physicians were called in who at once decided it best to perform an operation. Before they began, however, the Governor's condition was found to be better and the operation was postponed with the hopes that he would survive.

Wednesday night he grew worse and the physicians were getting things in readiness to perform the operation when the Governor said,

"I don't want to die, but if I must die I am ready to face my fate as any man ever was. I don't want this operation performed, but if it must be performed—if these doctors tell me it must be performed—I am ready to feel the keen edge of the knife. I will make my will before it begins. Send for Judge Hopkins. I want to be prepared for the worst in all that I can do before I die, if I must die. But I don't think that I am going to die. I am going to bear it if I can, and I think I can, but send for Judge Hopkins—I'll be ready for the worst if it comes."

Judge Hopkins was sent for and he made his will. Then he turned to his private secretary and asked him, "What was that case I ought to act on at the capitol?"

"John Ford, of Decatur county who is doomed to be hanged," replied the secretary.

"Give me the papers," said the Governor. "He shall not die next Friday. I grant him a respite." The document was signed. Then he asked for his will, which was given him and he put his signature to it and announced ready for the operation.

The operation was completed at 12 o'clock Monday night, and the Governor's life has just been hanging by a thread ever since and his death would not be a surprise at any moment. News reached Dahlonega Tuesday evening that the Governor was dead, and every citizens heart was bowed with grief until the arrival of the mail on Wednesday giving news to the contrary.

LATER.—Yesterdays mail brings the glad tidings that the Governor is improving.

DENTISTRY.—Dr. Bosworth, of Atlanta, is spending a few days in Dahlonega. Office, residence of Dr. Jones. All work guaranteed.

OUR SHERIFF ARRESTED.

Charged With an Assault With Intent to Murder.

As stated in last weeks issue Mr. D. S. Pruitt, sheriff of Lumpkin county, dangerously wounded John Redmond on the morning of the 13th inst., while endeavoring to arrest him on two warrants—one for an assault with intent to murder and the other for misdemeanor—true bills having been returned by the grand jury at the last term of Lumpkin Superior Court, the injuries having been done by defendant to Bony Tauk during a row a short time before the convening of court.

Redmond was expecting warrants against him and always made it convenient to be away from home when the officer called to see him, notwithstanding, it is stated that Redmond often was heard to say in a boasting manner that the sheriff of Lumpkin county could never arrest him. This, of course, made sheriff Pruitt unusually diligent in his search for him for he had the reputation of being a bad man and the officer wanted to discharge his duties in endeavoring to bring him to justice, but his efforts were always in vain.

Only a short time ago Redmond got into a row in Gainesville and was sentenced to pay a fine or work on the streets. The defendant had no money and had to go on the streets. During this time our sheriff sent his warrants to the proper authorities of that city with instructions for them to hold Redmond for him when his time expired. Some friends came along and paid the prisoners fine and he was released and no attention was paid to Lumpkin's warrants.

Redmond returned to his home and could be heard of by our sheriff occoring about in this and Hall county. Sheriff Pruitt, in company with constable Albert Whelchel went down Wednesday of last week to see if they couldn't catch him. About 7 o'clock the next morning they located him while sitting in the yard of James Conner, in Hall county. The officers approached the building—Pruitt making his way to one side of the house and Whelchel to the other. Mrs. Conner saw the officers and said, "John, they are coming after you now!" Redmond ran through the house and the sheriff and constable took different courses around the angle shaped fence, and the next time the sheriff saw his man he was coming towards him. Redmond jumped the fence and, doubtless discovering that he was running on the sheriff, made off in another direction. Two shots were fired at the fugitive and as the smoke arose from the pistol the last time Redmond fell, the ball entering one of his hips, passing through and lodged in his thigh. The wounded man was carried to the house and physicians sent for and the officers returned to their homes.

The Saturday following constable McCrary, of Hall county, accompanied by Mr. A. C. Crenshaw, came up and arrested sheriff Pruitt on a warrant charging him with an assault with intent to murder. Attornies Baker and Lilly escorted the officer and the prisoner to New Bridge where it was ascertained by the attending physician that it would not be safe for the wounded man to testify at that time and the next morning sheriff Pruitt made a $800 bond and returned to Dahlonega, and will have a trial at the next term of Hall Superior Court. There was a great crowd at New Bridge upon the arrival of the officer and the sheriff, and it was believed for a while that trouble would arise, as some of Redmond's friends were drinking and very boisterous, but they were persuaded by those wishing justice to be done that it was best to let the law take its course, and things quieted down.

The physicians think at this writing that Redmond will recover.

It is said that Redmond had his clothes packed at the time he was discovered by the officers and was waiting for Mr. Conner to come and put him across the river so he could leave out for Alabama.

There are more than one reason why Redmond wants to leave Georgia if reports are true. It is said that he is one of the men who assisted to carry away several wagon loads of corn and two or three bales of cotton which a tailor had levied on and locked up in a house one night last fall, near that place. It is said that he has divulged the whole secret to the solicitor general, and others also want him away before court convenes in Lumpkin.

ANOTHER COUNTERFEITER

Decator Corn the Unfortunate Man Bound Over.

Last Monday U. S. Deputy Marshal Harbison arrested Decator Corn in Nimblewill district and brought him to town on a warrant charging him with passing some of the same kind of spurious coin that was made by Sylvester Stepp in this county first of last April, and who is now serving out a three year's sentence in the Ohio penitentiary for such offense.

The prisoner was confined in the county jail until about 1 o'clock Tuesday afternoon at which time the trial commenced. The witnesses in behalf of the government were Jerry Black, Lewis Black and Arch Twigs.

The substance of the evidence introduced is as follows:

Jerry Black sworn says: Arch Twigs and Decator Corn came to my house on or about the first of April. Corn wanted some liquor. My son Lewis measured him out two gallons in a jug for which he was to pay $1,25 per gallon. He handed Lewis three dollars in silver. Lewis give it to me and as I had been notified there was counterfeit money in the country, I looked at it and soon found that it was spurious coin. I gave it back to Corn and told him that it was counterfeit and that I had no use for it. He looked at it and said it did look a little like counterfeit. He said he got it from John Fry, Superintendent of the Wahle Co., the night before and he would carry it back and make him give him good money for it. He said he would pay me or my son for the liquor at some other time, but I set the jug back into the house and didn't let him have it. Defendant requested me to say nothing about the counterfeit money.

Lewis Black's testimony was the same as his fathers.

Arch Twigs sworn, says: I saw defendant with three dollars in counterfeit money. He wanted some liquor and I got him a pint twice. He give me two dollars and said it was counterfeit money and that the Blacks wouldn't have it. I told him it would be of no use to me. He told me to take it and if I tried to pass it on any one and they found that it was counterfeit for me to bring it back to him and he would take it up. I took it and come to town to show it to Marshal Harbison and Com. Baker but they were not in Dahlonega and I carried it back. I was told that John P. Corn said if any body having any of this counterfeit money would bring it to him that he would take it up and pay them back whatever they were out. I give it to Dan Corn who was with Decator Corn and he went to the house and brought me back forty-five cents, the amount I was out. John P. Corn was there. Decator Corn told me when he give me the money that he would sell me a pair of moulds for $2,30 that would make the same kind. Cator said all he wanted was two gallons of liquor for the two dollars.

This closed the testimony for the government. The defendant introduced no witnesses and the Commissioner required a bond of $700 for his appearance at the U. S. Court in Atlanta. The prisoner was unable to make the bond then and was carried back to jail where he remained until his friends came to his assistance next morning.

THE ANTI-BARROOM BILL.

A bill to be entitled an Act to abolish barrooms, to prohibit the manufacture, sale and keeping for sale of intoxicating liquors for beverage purposes; and to provide for its manufacture and sale for other purposes; to prescribe penalties for the violation of this Act; and for other purposes.

SECTION 1, Be it enacted by the General Assembly of the State of Georgia, and it is hereby enacted by authority of the same, That the manufacture, sale and keeping for sale of intoxicating liquors, fermented or distilled, is prohibited in this State, except in the manner hereinafter provided; provided that nothing in this Act respecting the manufacture of liquor shall affect any county in which the same is prohibited by any existing law; and nothing herein respecting the sale of intoxicating liquors shall affect or apply to those counties in which by local law, or otherwise, the sale of such liquors is prohibited, but should such prohibition of the manufacture or sale or both of liquors be repealed or otherwise removed, in any of said counties, then the same shall become subject to the provisions of this Act.

SEC. 2. Be it further enacted, That in any county in which this Act is applicable, a vendor for intoxicating liquors for other than beverage purposes may be appointed upon petition of a majority of the free-holders to the Grand Jury of the county. He shall be a person of good moral character, and shall be ineligible to hold any office for which any election may be held during his tenure of such appointment and for one year thereafter. He shall give bond to the ordinary or to the county commissioners in the sum of five thousand dollars for the faithful observance of all the provisions of this Act, while holding said appointments during its continuance, which shall be two years, and at the expiration of that time a successor may be appointed in the manner above prescribed. Such vendor shall be authorized to purchase any intoxicating liquors, which have been examined and stamped as pure and unadulterated by the state chemist, and to sell the same for cash only, and in pints or quarts singly, at a price sufficient to reimburse the cost thereof, and the actual expenses of conducting the sale as herein provided, including compensation to said vendor at a rate to be fixed by the Grand Jury, but without any profit over and above such actual cost and expenses. Said vendor shall be under the supervision of the ordinary or county commissioners, who, once in every three months shall carefully examine his books and records, and who shall see that the provisions of this Act are faithfully complied with. Said vendor shall not sell any liquors to any minor or any person wholly or partially intoxicated, or to any one whom such vendor knows or has reasonable cause to believe is a person of intemperate habits, nor to any person whom such vendor knows or has reasonable cause to believe intends to use or sell such intoxicating liquors, or to furnish them to others to be used or sold for beverage purposes. Said vendor shall keep a record of all sales made by him, and of the persons to whom sold, which record shall be examined by the Grand Jury at each term of the Superior Court, for the purpose of ascertaining whether the provisions of this Act are faithfully complied with, and the Grand Jury shall order such vendor to desist from selling to any person who appears from their investigation or facts otherwise ascertained to be purchasing liquors for the purpose of using or selling or furnishing the same in violation of the provision of this Act.

SEC. 3. The place at which said vendor shall conduct said business shall be set apart and used for said business only; it shall have no door or place of entrance or exit except at the front of the same; it shall have no connection by side doors or otherwise with any adjacent room or structure; it shall be so constructed and located as to give a full and unobstructed view of every part of the interior from the street or sidewalk in front of the same, and such view shall not be obstructed by screens, screen doors, or any other arrangement or device, no gaming or betting or any device therefor shall be permitted in such place and no lewd pictures shall be exhibited upon the walls; it shall be open only between the hours of sunrise and sunset, and shall be designated by a sign bearing the words "Public Liquor Store," and underneath the same, the words, "No Liquors Sold For Beverage Purposes." In no case shall the liquors sold therein be drunk on the premises or within the curtilage. Said store shall not be kept open and shall any sales be made on Sunday or Christmas day, or on any election day.

SEC. 4. Be it further enacted, That no person shall manufacture any intoxicating liquors in the State until he first shall have taken an oath before and given bond to the ordinary or county commissioners in the sum of five thousand dollars, that he will not sell the same to any person in this state except the vendors appointed under this Act; and no such manufacturer in this State nor any manufacturer outside the State nor any agent thereof shall offer for sale or sell to any such vendors any intoxicating liquors, until at his expense he has caused the same to be examined by the state chemist, and until they have been stamped by him as pure and unadulterated.

SEC. 5. Be it further enacted, That any place at which liquors are manufactured, kept for sale or sold in violation of the provisions of this Act, is hereby declared a nuisance; and any citizen may apply to the judge of the superior court for an injunction to restrain the same.

SEC. 6. In all prosecutions for the violation of this Act, and in all proceedings as against nuisances the payment by any person of the United States Internal Revenue Tax as a retailer of intoxicating liquors, whether fermented or distilled liquors, or the holding of a receipt for such tax shall be prima facie evidence that such person is engaged in the business of selling such liquors as a beverage; and in all such prosecutions or proceedings the general reputation respecting any place where such liquors are alleged to be sold as a beverage may be given in evidence—but no conviction shall be unless such evidence is corroborated by other testimony.

SEC. 7. Be it further enacted, That any person convicted of violating any of the provisions of this Act, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and be punished as prescribed in section 4310 of the Code; and for any second offense the punishment shall be imprisonment in one of the modes provided in that section.

SEC. 8. This Act shall take effect, with respect to all States, county and municipal licenses for the manufacture or sale of intoxicating liquors, in existence at the time of the passage of this Act, immediately upon their expiration; but no such license shall be granted or issued after the passage of this Act.

SEC. 9. The word "person" wherever used in this act shall be held to include corporations, wherever the provisions are applicable to both persons or corporations.

SEC. 10. This statute being intended for the suppression of public evils, in the exercises of the police power of the State, it is hereby declared as the intention of the General Assembly that liberal construction, as to [illegible] from a strict construction, shall be applied to all its provisions and in its enforcement.

SEC. 11. All laws and parts of laws in conflict herewith and hereby repealed.

OLD PEOPLE

Old people who require medicine to regulate the bowels and kidneys will find the true remedy in Electric Bitters. This medicine does not stimulate and contains no whiskey nor other intoxicant, but acts as a tonic and alterative. It acts mildly on the stomach and bowels, aiding strength and giving tone to the organs, thereby aiding Nature in the performance of the functions. Electric Bitters is an excellent appetizer, and aids digestion. Old people find it just exactly what they need. Price fifty cents per bottle at E. C. Chittlesgoe's Drug Store.

Solitude.

[Written for the Signal.]

A girl in my school asked me to write in her album. I wrote this: "Learn early the great lesson for life, which is to love. Passion for poetry, fondness for flowers, devotion to duty, and faithfulness to friends are some of the ways it unfolds itself." The destinies of human beings are determined by one of two elements, force or love. He who feels borne on by blind fate, harried on like dumb driven cattle is a slave to law, and ruled by force. The floods of sorrow will engulf him in its raging torrents and will bear him downward, downward to his certain fate of ruin and despair. The horrible blackness of the home of the soul like this, who can picture!

Let us linger no longer around a scene so loveless, but come, let us gaze upon him whose life is lost in love. Cold nature, the cruel world become to him but another expression of the gladness and goodness of his creator. As the eagle soars away in the distance beyond, and calmly watches the storm below raging on the mountains brow, so the soul of this man, borne on the wings of love is lifted to grander heights where, untouched by shame and despair, it reposes serenely on the bosom of its redeemer.

I am in despair. Alone in the night, for the love-light has gone out. I am tossed on the breakers, the pilot has gone from my ship, and the light house gives no longer its guiding rays. Oh ship of my soul, thou hast lost thy guiding friend, thou art tossed against the dangerous rocks, and have nothing to hope for but the coming of the dawn, when His glad sunlight shall guide thee safely into the port!

Let Us Have The Law.

The leaders of the two old parties are becoming somewhat alarmed at the demonstrations being made by the people, and the growing popularity of the principles in the people's party platform. Many of them, especially in the South and West are now professing great friendship for free silver. We have no confidence in their sincerity. They pretend to be making a fight for a plank in the next national platform declaring in favor of free silver. Suppose they succeed. What good will that plank do? What the people want is a law providing for the free coinage of silver. The two old parties are in power. If they are sincere they can give us a law providing for free silver at any time they choose to do so. If they don't do it is proof that all this talk about a free silver plank in the platforms is bosh—a mere subterfuge and catch vote trick. It has come to the point now that the way to catch votes is to do and not promise. The people have learned that promises made by the two old parties are not worth the paper on which they are written. If the two old parties are sincere in their profession of friendship for silver, let them "show their faith by their works." They have the power to make the law. Give us the law, gentlemen, we have promise enough.—Ex.

The photographer artist from [illegible] is here [illegible]ly people, took his departure for home last Tuesday.

Capt. Ingersoll had a blackberry pie this week. The briars from which the berries were gathered, are of a very early variety which were imported to this country.

Col. Price is making arrangements to have him a cottage built near his present residence. He says he wants a house for him and his wife to live in that has no steps to it.

Miss Brogdon, of Suwannee, who has been on a visit to Dahlonega for several days, took her departure for home on last Tuesday, accompanied by Mr. Call Strickland who expects to be absent a week or so.

J. F. Moore has just received a large and well selected line of shoes which will be sold at the same old price. They were purchased before the rise in leather and shoes and he expects to give his customers the benefit of it.

The 5th Saturday and Sunday in this month there will be a two days meeting at the camp ground. Preaching on Saturday at 11 a. m. Services will begin on Sunday at 9 a. m. Preaching at 11 a. m. and 3 p. m. The pastor assisted by Rev. W. M. D. Bond and others will conduct the meeting. At the close of the 3 o'clock service the best interest of the camp meeting will be considered. Take the lunch basket along.

We are informed that a petition was being circulated in Dahlonega last week among our citizens, by George Clarke, asking the Governor to pardon Martin Burns, who is now serving out a life time sentence in the penitentiary for the murder of Bearden in this county some years ago. The strong evidence was most too fresh in the minds of our people for them to ask for his release yet awhile and we learn that only one person in Dahlonega signed it.

One of our Jay correspondents informs us that he heard a man say the other day that he "wished a cyclone would come and sweep from the face of the earth all the people that oppose the sale of liquor." Our correspondent adds that "such a person ought to be banished from the presence of all civilized people, and should be compelled to spend the remainder of their life in the portion of Union county that is inhabited by white caps."

TWO LIVES SAVED.

Mr. Phoebes Thomas, of Junction City, Ill. was told by her doctors she had Consumption and that there was no hope for her, but two bottles Dr. King's New Discovery completely cured her and she says it saved her life. Mr. Thos. Eggers, 139 Florida St. San Francisco, suffered from a dreadful cold, approaching Consumption, tried without result everything else then bought one bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery and in two weeks was cured. He is naturally thankful. It is such results, of which these are samples, that prove the wonderful efficacy of this medicine in Coughs and Cold. Free trial bottle at E. C. Cartledge's Drug Store. Regular size 50c. and $1.00.

ABSOLUTELY PURE

Meal has reached the seventy-five cents notch in the Dahlonega market—that is by the retail.

The dance at Dr. Weld's Thursday night of last week, was greatly enjoyed by those who attended.

We are informed that Bob Barker came near being drowned a few days ago while bathing in the Chestatee river.

The members of the colored Methodist church are receiving the lumber for the purpose of repairing their building.

Elsewhere we publish the Boyd anti bar room bill in full in order that those interested may know exactly what it is.

Col. M. G. Boyd and wife left for Atlanta last Saturday with the expectation of being gone about a couple of months.

Mrs. J. B. Witt, of Atlanta, arrived in the city latter part of last week, and will spend several days with her mother, Mrs. Wier Boyd.

We notice two or more of the cadets still in Dahlonega. They dislike to leave our mountain town where the atmosphere is so pure and bracing.

One of our subscribers at Pleasant Retreat says some times he misses his SIGNAL two or three weeks in succession. What's the matter up there?

The engine for the Preacher lot has been received, and every thing is being put in shape so as to get it in a whistling position in a few days and set the stamp mill and pump to running.

Mr. C. L. Harris returned to Jefferson last Saturday to finish teaching out his school at that place. Charlie, in order to keep up with the news at home has the SIGNAL to pay him weekly visits.

Rev. James W. Parks, of Norcross, delivered two very able and interesting sermons at the Methodist church last Sunday—one at 11 o'clock and the other at night, and a large congregation greeted him both times.

Mr. and Mrs. B. R. Meaders returned from Atlanta last Wednesday, where the lady has been for some time under treatment of the physicians of that city for cancer. The cancer has been removed from her head and she is improving in health considerably.

Mr. John and Samuel Cheney, who have been attending college at Dahlonega during the past twelve months, returned to their homes at Marietta yesterday. Mr. Samuel Cheney is one of the editors of the Phi-Palaestra and has written many interesting articles for that paper. No finer young men ever attended the N. G. A. College than these young men and we hope to see them back again when college opens.

Thursday of last week, while Mr. James McGee, of Union county, was on his way to Gainesville with a wagon load of produce, the team got scared at a wheelbarrow, which was being used by some hands on the Clarkesville road this side of the mile post, and ran down the hill and turned the wagon over at the rocky place near the creek, bruising the driver up considerably and destroying much of his loading. He only saved two dozen eggs out of about forty-five and his chickens and ducks went in every direction. Mr. McGee was brought back to relatives in town while as many of the fowls were caught as possible and disposed of in Dahlonega and Mr. McGee returned to his home in a day or two.

EVERYWHERE WE GO

We find some one who been cured by Hood's Sarsaparilla, and people on all hands are praising this great medicine for what it has done for them and their friends. Taken in time Hood's Sarsaparilla prevents serious illness by keeping the blood pure and all the organs in a healthy condition. It is the great blood purifier.

Hood's Pills become the favorite cathartic with every one who tries them. 25c. per box.

Merchant Ben Anderson is off on a business trip this week to various places.

Two professors and a printer were on a justice's court jury last Friday. Wasn't it a brainy outfit?

Prof. Vickery leaves for Hartwell this week where he will likely remain until college opens at Dahlonega.

Capt. Hall is now engaged in grading the street near the Imboden house, and touching up his two buildings down there with a little paint.

Mrs. M. F. Whelchel, her daughter and son John, who have been spending several days in Dahlonega, returned to their homes in Anniston, Ala., last Tuesday.

LOST.—A ladies cape was lost between Dahlonega and the Findley mill Tuesday. The finder will receive a reward by returning it to FRANK M. MEADERS.

Another runaway occurred this week. This time it was a team belonging to Mr. John Moore, which ran from near the post office Monday to the Drug Store, staving the wagon up against the corner and breaking the tongue.

The trustees of the N. G. A. College held their annual meeting last Monday and adjourned over until to-day. Among other business to be transacted is the election of a trustee to fill the place of Hon. Jos. E. Brown made vacant by death.

We regret to learn of the death of Mr. Henry Walker, which occurred at Jay on the morning of the 17th inst., after an illness of about two years. He leaves a wife and eight small children to mourn his loss and who are considered in destitute circumstances by the citizens of that vicinity. Their condition is to be pitied and the good citizens will have to lend a helping hand so as to keep them from suffering.

We are informed that the coroner and sheriff of Hall county, together with the undertaker, came to examine John Redmond the other day, who was recently shot by sheriff Pruitt, but were somewhat disappointed when they found him alive and doing reasonably well. There's nothing like officers being active. If some of the Hall county officials had have discharged their duty in holding Redmond over on the warrants sent from this county, when they had him this unfortunate affair would never have occurred.

"Squire" Walden, who was sentenced to ten days labor last week for the frequent discharge of his pistol on the outskirts of town during the night, has been performing the duty this week with a chain to his leg. Of course Walden's coduct was wrong and this lesson should be a warning to him. He was not the only one that violated the law that night but was less fortunate than the others in being caught up with. We are informed that a certain party loaded with liquor cursed out one of the members of the council the same evening, but the officer was requested "not to punish him for that" and he was released. Walden should brace up after he gets out of this scrape and change his course. If he has to get on a drunk let him join the aristrocratic society, then when he gets loaded down with choice liquors, it will be termed a "gentleman's tight" and such sympathetic words as these will be made about him, "that he is a good fellow" and "what a pity he drinks," etc., then he will have some one that will take him to a cozy room and administer all the ice cold lemonade that is necessary, and a good sized drink will be ready for him next morning when he feels bad. Later.—He has paid the remainder of his fine in cash, made his bond for carrying a pistol and is now at liberty.

The World's Fair Tests showed no baking powder so pure or so great in leavening power as the Royal.

Sheriff Pruitt left yesterday for Blairsville where he goes to get Norman Teague, who is in jail at that place awaiting the sheriffs arrival, arrested on a warrant swore out by Dot Gaddis, of this county, charging him with larceny from the house.

Bob Thomas was arrested by Marshal Harbison last Saturday for selling liquor. Only a short time ago this same man was arrested by sheriff Pruitt on a warrant sent up from Hall county, charging him with the same offense. He made bond and was set at liberty until the convening of court. Truly, the way of the transgressor is hard.

We are informed that Sheriff Pruitt received a couple of warrants from the sheriff of Pickens county—one for fornication and adultery and the other for misdemeanor—against Dr. Evans, formerly of Talking Rock, but now of Lumpkin county. The Doctor was in town yesterday for the purpose of making bond but the sheriff was absent and he had to return without doing so. The Doctor doesn't seem to be very uneasy.

For some weeks Lumpkin county has had a man who was found a fit subject for the asylum, but the superintendant informs the ordinary that there is no room for the unfortunate person. Since this information has been received we have noticed that lunatics have been accepted from other counties, while this poor fellow who is away up here in the mountains has to suffer because they say there is no room for him. If the doctor in charge received no salary and was paid so much for each inmate of the asylum then we would not be neglected. You would hear of him riding all over the country in search of subjects. Then even with the present accommodations at the asylum, room would be made for all.

Porter Springs.

Owing to the serious illness of his little grand child, a daughter of Mr. John A. Whitner, Col. Farrow has not yet returned to Porter Springs but is expected there today or to-morrow. It was necessary in the little girls case to perform an operation for appendicitis, the same as that performed this week on Gov. Atkinson. Drs. Armstrong, Earnest and Benson, of Atlanta, performed the operation last week and up to last account the little girl was doing remarkably well. Col. and Mrs. Farrow have written that they would be up last of the week.

Two Females Fight in Justices Court.

A family row between some of the Beck family caused the following cases to be spread upon Squire Norton's docket last Wednesday:

The State vs. Bill Dotson and Docia Beck—adultery.

The State vs. Allen Beck—attempt to rape.

The State vs. Robt. Beck—carrying concealed weapons.

The first mentioned warrant was swore out by Allen Beck and the two last by Docia Beck.

The first case sounded on the docket was against Dotson and Docia and when Mrs. Allen Beck commenced to testify, Docia Beck arose and struck the witness, giving the lie, and a lick over the head with her fist at the same time without a moments warning. Then they hitched and fought like men. Every body in the court room—which was crowded with people all the way up from the bare footed boy to old gray headed men that had long since reached their three score years and ten—kept their seats, except the Squire, Sheriff and Constable. The Squire stepped to one side to keep out of the way until the officers separated the fighters. It was an easy matter to stop the licks but the womens tongues couldn't be controled. None of the spectators said a word except Dotson, Docia's partner in law. He said "behave Doe," which seemed to have a charming affect, for she went quietly out of the room as ordered by the Court until the trial ended. It is not often that a defendant is tried without being present, but it had to be done in this case so as to restore order. The Court taking into consideration the fact that two superior courts had passed since it was stated the offense was committed, and there being nothing much in the case no way, discharged the defendants and adjourned court until the next day at 3 o'clock, p. m.

Col. Baker represented the pugilistic woman and Dotson.

Yesterday at the appointed hour both the defendants, Robert and Allen Beck, were in court and announced ready for trial, but Docia Beck, the prosecutor, failed to put in her appearance and the cases were dismissed. Since the former trial Allen Beck had swore out a warrant against Docia for striking his wife is probable the cause of her absence in court yesterday.

Docia was afterwards arrested and waived examination and made bond for her appearance at the Superior Court.

COTTON.

Stand and cultivation throughout the state only fair; the excessive rains and cool weather during May having checked some injury to the plants. The stand is materially injured on the gray land where it was worked before the recent cool weather. Let us hope, however, that a few hot days will bring about a great improvement in this crop. Condition compared to an average, 83 1-2.

CORN.

Corn is small for the season throughout the state, but the stands and condition are good. The cool weather during May has given it a yellow color, but it only needs some warm sunshine to give it the proper color and start it to growing. If the state should be blessed with seasonable rains for the next two months, Georgia will raise the largest crop of corn in her history. Condition compared to an average, 94.

POTATOES.

Potatoes, both Irish and sweet, are promising fine yields. The former of these crops is already maturing and furnishing wholesome and palatable food for our people. The prospective yield of Irish potatoes is 95 per cent. The acreage in sweet potatoes, compared to an average, is 97 1-2.

PEANUTS.

The acreage is nearly the same as last year. The condition is not so good, as they have been retarded in their growth by cool weather, and in some cases injured by bugs.

PEANUTS.

A large crop of those nuts have been planted, the acreage being above that of last year.

TOBACCO.

The acreage is not quite as large as last year. The condition, compared to an average, is 89 per cent., 46 per cent transplanted.

HOGS AND CATTLE.

There is some reports of diseases among the stock throughout the state, especially cholera among the hogs, but as yet it is not general or very fatal.

FRUIT.

The prospect throughout the state is still very good for a fine fruit crop, with the exception of pears. The blight has attacked nearly all the pear orchards in the lower part of the state, and to some extent in middle Georgia. The effects have been so disastrous that unless the disease can be checked the pear industry is doomed to destruction. Some blight on the apple trees also in the same section, but no serious trouble with the pears. Some "yellows" on the peach trees in all section of the state, but not many trees affected as yet.

QUESTION 4.—I have been using in my compost about 350 pounds of pea meal. Does it supply any ammonia? Could it be supplied by acid, sod or common salt? If mixed with green seed, acid or kainit, would it prevent the seed from coming up?

ANSWER 4.—Pea meal supplies all three of the essential elements of plant food, potash, phosphoric acid and nitrogen or ammonia; but its use as a fertilizer is too expensive. You can supply these elements in much cheaper form. Acid phosphate does not supply ammonia, but phosphoric acid. Common salt would only have a mechanical effect and add nothing in plant food. By the use of kainit, you supply a sufficient quantity of potash. The cottonseed is your source of ammonia and an additional quantity would increase that element. If from lack of vigor in the plants under which you have used your compost, it is apparent that a very large amount of ammonia is demanded, and order not to reduce the other material too much you might add dried blood or cottonseed meal, as they supply ammonia in a more concentrated form than the cottonseed. A compost made of cottonseed, muriate manure, acid phosphate and kainit, properly cut down and forked over, would prevent any danger of germination. In composting care should be taken that the ammonia by heating is not allowed to escape. A series of experiments conducted at the state station shows that the addition of kainit gives as good results as composting without the expense of handling and danger of loss.

If I had the pea meal, I would most certainly use it for manure, as it contains all the principal elements of plant food, but I would not use it in the crude form. I would feed it to my horses, cows, pigs, etc.; let them work it up into the right condition to apply to my land.

FRUIT DRYING.

The Department of Agriculture Submits a Plan For a Homemade Dryer.

The fruit crop of the state being very large, and many requests reaching the department for a homemade fruit dryer, I herewith publish a cut of one, by the use of which a large quantity of fruit, berries and vegetables can be dried, regardless of the weather.

This arrangement is simply a hogshead with a small stove in it and a box of drawers, or sliding shelves above it.

Saw a door in the side of the hogshead to admit the stove and fuel for feeding it, cut a hole in the rear top for the pipe, carrying the pipe up above the box. Saw an 18-inch square hole to the front of the stovepipe. Now take a dry goods, or any other kind of a box, knock one end out, nail slats to the sides for the perforated drawers or shelves to rest on, then insert the top of the box into a door with a button or strap to fasten it, put in your perforated shelves for holding the fruit and you have your dryer complete. Coal or wood may be used, and a very hot fire is not desirable. The door in the hogshead should be left open to provide air for the stove.

The color and flavor of the fruit will be improved by keeping a dish or pan of water on the back part of the stove, to furnish moisture to the heated air. The box need not be tight. A few auger holes should be bored in the top of the box to produce a current of hot air up through the trays or shelves of fruit.

PREPARATION OF THE FRUIT.

Apples must be pared, cored, quartered or sliced. For drying by artificial heat they are usually sliced. Peaches must be peeled, halved and pitted. Peeling is sometimes omitted, though the peeled peaches generally sell for two or three cents a pound more than the unpeeled. Plums and small pears are dried whole. Grapes and the berries are stemmed and dried whole after careful picking over. If a farmer has no hogshead he can easily with a few boards make a substitute for it.

A Miracle in Missouri.

CRIPPLED AND BENT FOR TEN YEARS WITH RHEUMATISM.

The Case Happened in Panama, Mo., and is the Wonder of the State.

(From the Kansas City Times.)

For years one of the best known men in Bates and Vernon counties has been Mark M. Woodson, now postmaster at Panama, and brother of ex-State Inspector of Mines, C. C. Woodson, of this city. The people of Rich Hill, where he formerly resided, and of his present home, remember well the twisted form, misshapen almost from the semblance of man, which for years compelled his head half to earth and labored small-like across the walks season after season, and when one day last week he calmly walked to Rich Hill height, threw away the heavy butt of cane which for years had been its only support from total helplessness, and walked erect, firmly, unhesitatingly about the two cities, people looked and wondered. The story of his restoration to health has become the marvel of the two counties. Exactly as Mr. Woodson told it to a Times reporter, it is here published:

"In '84 the rheumatism started in my right knee, and after a lingering illness it settled generally in my joints. I was finally able to arise, but for the past 5 years could only walk with the aid of crutches, and my body was bent half toward the ground. I went to the best physicians to be had in Rich Hill, and they did me no good all the time and could not be kept warm. In a short time I was able to attend to my office duties, and I could enjoy a sound and restful night's sleep, something I had not known for ten years. To-day am practically well. I firmly believe, from my personal of my terrible and agonizing ailment. No magician of the Far East ever wrought such wonders with the word as that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills did for me."

To verify the story beyond all question of doubt Mr. Woodson made affidavit to the above.

Subscribed and sworn to before me this 3d day of March, 1894.

FREE COINAGE
THE PEOPLE'S MONEY—the coinage of both gold and silver, without discrimination, which means the free coinage of both as opposed to the policy of contraction, which has been dictated by England and adopted in Washington, and which levies tribute on every product of the farm, on valuations of all kinds and on all compensations for labor.
THE GREAT ISSUE NOW is the double standard against the single standard—the use of both gold and silver as standard money metals against keeping the currency of the country on the gold basis.

The ATLANTA WEEKLY CONSTITUTION
published at ATLANTA, GA., and having
A CIRCULATION OF MORE THAN 156,000, chiefly among the farmers of the country, and going to more homes than any weekly newspaper published on the face of the earth, is

THE GREAT SOUTH AMERICAN
NERVINE TONIC
AND
Stomach and Liver Cure
The Most Astonishing Medical Discovery of the Last One Hundred Years.
It is Pleasant to the Taste as the Sweetest Nectar.
It is Safe and Harmless as the Purest Milk.
This wonderful Nervine Tonic has only recently been introduced into this country by the Great South American Medicine Company, and yet its great value as a curative agent has long been known by the native inhabitants of South America, who rely almost wholly upon its powers as a medicinal powers to cure every form of disease by which they are overtaken.
This new and valuable South American medicine possesses powers and qualities hitherto unknown to the medical profession. This medicine has completely solved the problem of the cure of Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint, and diseases of the general Nervous System. It also cures all forms of failing health from whatever cause. It performs this by the Great Nervine Tonic qualities which it possesses and by its great curative powers upon the digestive organs, the stomach, the liver and the bowels. No remedy compares with this wonderfully valuable Nervine Tonic as a builder and strengthener of the life forces of the human body and as a great renewer of a broken down constitution. It is also of more real permanent value in the treatment and cure of diseases of the Lungs than any ten consumption remedies ever used on this continent. It is a marvelous cure for all diseases of females of all ages. Ladies who are approaching the critical period known as change in life, should not fail to use this great Nervine Tonic almost constantly for the space of two or three years. It will carry them safely over the danger. This great strengthener and curative is of inestimable value to the ravaged and infirm, because its great energizing properties will give them a new hold on life. It will add ten or fifteen years to the lives of many of those who will use a half dozen bottles of the remedy each year.
A SWORN CURE FOR ST. VITUS'S DANCE OR CHOREA.
CRAWFORDSVILLE, IND., May 19, 1893.
My daughter, seven years old, had been afflicted for several months with Chorea or St. Vitus Dance. She was reduced to a skeleton, could not walk, could not talk, could not swallow anything but milk. It had to handle her like an infant. Doctor and neighbors gave her up. I commenced to feed her the Great South American Nervine Tonic; the effects were very surprising. In three days she was rid of the nervousness and rapidly improving. Four bottles cured her completely. I think the South American Nervine the grandest remedy ever discovered, and would recommend it to everyone. JOHN T. MISS.

CRAWFORDSVILLE, IND., June 22, 1893.
My daughter, eleven years old, was severely afflicted with St. Vitus's Dance or Chorea. We gave her three and one-half bottles of South American Nervine and she is completely restored. I believe it will cure any case of St. Vitus's Dance. I have kept it in my family for two years, and am sure it is the greatest remedy in the world for all forms of nervousness, and for all forms of Nervous Disorders and Failing Health from whatever cause.

INDIGESTION AND DYSPEPSIA.
The Great South American Nervine Tonic
Which we now offer you, is the only absolutely unfailing remedy ever discovered for the cure of Indigestion, Dyspepsia, and the vast train of symptoms and horrors which are the result of diseases and debility of the human stomach. No person can afford to pass by this jewel of incalculable value who is affected by disease of the Stomach, because the experience and testimony of thousands go to prove that this is the ONE and ONLY ONE great cure in the world for this universal destroyer. There is no case of unmalignant diseases of the stomach which can resist the wonderful curative powers of the South American Nervine Tonic.
Harriet E. Hall, of Waynetown, Ind., says: "I owe my life to The Great South American Nervine. I had been in bed for five months from the effects of an exhausted Stomach, Indigestion, Nervous Prostration, and a general shattered condition of my whole system. Had given up all hopes of getting well. Had tried three doctors with no relief. The first bottle of the Nervine Tonic improved me so much that I was able to walk about, and a few bottles cured me entirely. I believe it the best medicine in the world. I can not recommend it too highly."
Mrs. M. Russell, Sugar Creek Valley, Ind., writes: "I have used several bottles of The South American Nervine Tonic, and will say I consider it the best medicine in the world. I believe it saved the lives of two of my children. They were down and nothing appeared to do them any good until I got this remedy, and it was very surprising how rapidly they both improved on its use. I recommend the medicine to all my neighbors.
Mrs. Ella A. Bruton, of New Ross, Indiana, says: "I can not express how much I owe to the Nervine Tonic. My system was completely shattered, spasitic cough, was coughing and spitting up blood, and was also in the first stages of consumption, an inheritance handed down through several generations. I began taking the Nervine Tonic and continued its use for about six months, and am entirely cured. It is the grandest remedy for nerves, stomach and lungs I have ever used."
Ed. J. Bourn, Drought, of Pima, Mo., writes: "My health had been very poor for years, was coughing severely. I only weighed 116 pounds when I commenced using the South American Nervine. I have used two bottles and now weigh 136 pounds, and am in much stronger and better than have been for five years. Am sure it will in a few days break up the Winter cold I not secured this remedy. My customers say that it has done more good and key is exactly it gives great satisfaction."

Grandma Land.

There's a wonderful country far away;
And its name is Grandma Land;
'Tis a beautiful, glorious, witching place
With grandmas on every hand.
Everywhere you may look or go,
Everywhere that the breezes blow,
Just grandmammas! Just grandmammas!

In this wonderful country far away
Where grandmammas abide.
In this beautiful witching Grandma Land
The good things wait on every side—
Jam and jelly cake heaped in piles;
Tarts and candy round for miles;
Just good things here! Just good things there!

In this wonderful country far, afar,
Where blow the candy breezes,
In this beautiful, glorious pudding land
Each child just does as he pleases,
All through the night, all through the day.
Every single child has his way,
Each his own way! Just as he pleases!

In this wonderful country far away
In this gorgeous grandma clime—
When tired children can eat no more,
There are stories of "Once on a Time
Stories are told and songs are sung,
Of when the grandmammas were young—
"Once on a Time!" "Well, let me See!

To this wonderful country far, afar;
Where only good things stay,
To this beautiful, glorious Grandma Land
Good children only find the way,
But when they sleep and when they dream
Away they float on the gilding stream
To Grandma Land! To Grandma Land!

The Biggest Gold Nuggets.

"The largest piece of gold ever found in the world," said Colonel Millard J. Sheridat, a well known mining expert, to a Journal reporter, "was the King of the Water Moon nugget, discovered in Australia in 1852. It weighed 223 pounds and four ounces, and was worth $55,000. The largest nugget found in California was that known as the Oliver Martin. It weighed 151 pounds and six ounces, and contained $35,270 of bullion. The second largest single find was that of the Monumental nugget, which weighed 1593 ounces troy, and realized $17,655. This nugget was found in Sierra County, which years ago gained the reputation of being particular rich in pure gold discoveries, cases being on record where a 500-ounce nugget realized $8000, and one of 100 ounces $1700. In Placer County a few years ago a nugget ten inches long, three to seven inches wide and one inch thick was found, which, when cleaned, weighed 147 ounces, and was sold for $2852. Colorado has not furnished any remarkably large nuggets. The largest piece of gold ever found in that State weighed just 150 ounces, and was by no means pure. North Carolina has a legend of an eighty nugget, and it is said that a ninety-six pounder was found in Siberia.

"Every big chunk of gold," continued the Colonel, "had a story connected with the finding of it, or of the consequences entailed by its discovery. The Oliver Martin nugget was brought to light in a specially sensational manner. Martin and his partner, John Flower, were overtaken in a canyon by a sudden rise of the stream. Flower was drowned, and in the attempt to bury his body under the roots of an uprooted tree Martin blundered against the nugget. The lucky find in his case proved to be the foundation of an immense fortune. In Spring Gulch, El Darado County, Cal., a Frenchman found an almost pure nugget weighing 275 ounces, valued at nearly $500. The discovery caused the miner to lose his mind, and the following day he was sent to the Stockton Asylum. The nugget was sold and the money sent to his family in France."—Chicago Journal.

How Old Must I Be!

We commend the following story to those who do not believe in children being brought to a saving knowledge of Christ when young.

'Mother,' said a little child, 'How old must I be before I can be a Christian?

And the wise mother answered: 'How old will you have to be, darling, before you can love me?'

'Mother, I always loved you. I do now, and I always shall.' And she kissed her mother. 'But you have not told me yet how old I shall have to be before I can be a Christian.

The mother made answer with another question:

'How old must you be before you can trust yourself wholly to me and my care?

'I always did,' she answered, and kissed her mother again; but tell me what I want to know. And she climbed into her mother's lap, and put her arms about her neck.

The mother asked again: 'How old will you be before you can do what I want you to?

Then the child whispered, half guessing what her dear mother meant, I can now, whithout growing any older.'

Then the mother said: 'You can be a Christian now, my darling, without wanting to be older. All you have to do is to love and trust, and try to please the One who says: 'Let the little ones come unto me.' Don't you want to begin now?

The child whispered 'yes.'

Then they both knelt down, and the mother prayed, and in her prayer she gave to Christ her little one who wanted to be His.—Exchange.

Beheads Wife and Babe.

Memphis, Tenn., June 21.—Henry Taylor was a colored laborer on the plantation of J. B. Hebron, near Burcette, Miss. He lived in an isolated cabin with his wife and her child, 5 years old, by a former husband, and two infant children of his own.

He was jealous of his wife because she entertained the attention of other men. This morning people passing by the plantation cabin were attracted by the screams of the children within.

The door had to be battered down before entrance could be gained. Then the body of the woman and child were found on the floor lifeless, the head of each completely severed from the body and an ax lying on the floor beside the child showed the implement used in the murder. There were certain indications that the man had dragged his wife out of bed, tied her to the floor with a rope attached to the bedstead, and then chopped off her head.

The child was probably decapitated afterward. In the meantime his own children had not awakened. The killing was done yesterday morning. The murderer had just received the weeks rations allowed by the plantation to each man of family. These he tied in a sack, and, going from the house, locked the door, leaving the children still asleep.

When they awakened later in the day they found themselves in the company of the corpses with nothing to eat and no way to leave the house. All day and night they screamed and beat on the door in the hope of attracting the attention of passers-by. When found and released the children were famished and almost dead from exhaustion and fright. The murderer has not been captured yet, though bloodhounds are on the trail

The Name Jesus.

A clergyman writes as follows: We have in our congregation a little deaf and dumb boy. On the Sabbath he loves to have his mother find for him the words that we are singing, though the music never thrills his quiet ears, nor touches his little heart. He looks at the hymn, glides his little fingers over every word to the end; and if he finds Jesus there, he is satisfied, and absorbed to the close of the singing; but if the word Jesus is not there, he closes his book and will have nothing more to do with it. So should we test the religions of the day. If we find Jesus the central thought of any system of theology, it is good—it will do for us; if not, turn away and have nothing to do with it.'—Exchange.

Some very strange and funny things are allowed to go on some times. The income tax law was found unconstitutional, and was knocked into a cocked hat. The ten per cent tax on State banks is unjust and unconstitutional, but is allowed to stand because they say they don't know what to do about it.—Albany Herald.

The Boyd ante-bar room bill, should it ever become a law, will not effect "dry counties." Blockading will go on just the same. And then where vendors are appointed it will give them a chance to stamp their watered liquor as "unadulterated" and sell it at the same old price, just as inferior kerosene oil is now sold that bears the stamp on each and every barrel.

A canvasser by sample was arrested in Macon for selling without license and fined $16 50, including license fee. He refused to pay it and was locked up. He sued out a writ of habeas corpus before Judge Speer, when the City Recorder was sustained and the license declared legal. This will be refreshing news to home merchants who have to pay a privilege tax.—Brunswick Times.

It looks as though the Democrats are trying to steal a couple of offices in Oconee County. Last fall the democrats were declared elected, and they took the offices. The populists contested. After a thorough and honest investigation Judge Hutchins declared the populists entitled to the p'aces. Then the democratic contestees after having submitted their claims to the decision of Judge Hutchins and agreeing by inference to abide that decision have determined to carry the case to the supreme court on the plea that Judge Hutchins was not the proper tribunal to decide the case. We believe in democratic rule, but we want democrats to get office by fair and honest methods. We are for the rule of the people. Whether the contested election laws are constitutional or not has nothing to do with the way the people of Oconee county voted last fall. It seems the populists did the best voting. To them belong the offices. Let them have them, say we as an American citizen.—Eagle.

After an Absence of 18 Years From Dahlonega Writes a Letter About the Place, Her Citizens and the College.

THE GLADES, GA., June 18, '95.

MR. EDITOR:—

The old saying that "if you treat a dog well it will come back" has found another demonstration of its truth in my case, for after a long absence from your town where I once attended College, I laid aside business and went up to Dahlonega to see what every body was doing.

The town has added many new attractions in the shape of new buildings, within the last few years the streets have been greatly improved, and the roads, leading to the town are in much better condition than they used to be. A railroad to Dahlonega would produce marvelous developments in a little while.

The North Georgia Agricultural College has grown far beyond the limits of its first field of usefulness, and added much to its resources for imparting instruction to the seekers of learning that matriculate there. Through the courtesy of my intimate friend and neighbor Rev. W. A. Boyd, late a student of the College, I was permitted to take a glance at the departments of business, music and art, and the military department. All the departments seem to have advanced and are in an improved condition. The writer looks upon this flourishing institution with feelings of gratitude on account of its being the first of its kind placed within the reach of the boys and girls of Northeast Georgia. Many of them were anxious to improve their minds but were forced to grope in the darkness of illiteracy, because the light was far away and they had no sufficient means of reaching it.

Very much has been added to the beauty of the grounds by the erection of the Lewis Monument. Though passed from labor to rest, it looks as if the grand old man was still alive and talking to the pupils and filling their minds and hearts with aspirations to a higher, nobler and better life. No wonder it stands there to his memory. The grandest and greatest achievments of this life are accomplished through sacrifice and the monument ought to stand there on the hill where day by day, he wore himself out for his pupils and for the benefit of his race. There is a fragrance about such lives that is never lost. It was a great pleasure to meet old students and classmates and citizens of the town. Of two I hope I may be pardoned for making special mention. Col. W. P. Price who has been as useful to his country as a private citizen as he was in military and political life. It would be a graceful act on the part of the young men of this common wealth if they would place him in the Governor's chair, and I believe they would if some of them did not want that place so bad themselves. I want him to be the next Governor, and I want Prof. B P. Gaillard to be the next President of the North Georgia Agricultural College. These requests are very modest and I hope they will be complied with at the proper time though I do not know that either one of these gentlemen would accept the places mentioned for them.

B. W. LOCKHART.

A DOUBLE MURDER.

Seymour Keener, of Rabun County, Murders His Two Cousins and is now in Jail in the Town of Clayton.

A special dispatch from Tallulah Falls of the 24th inst., to the Atlanta Constitution, says: Seymour Keener, a young white man, killed his two pretty cousins, Lillie and Laura Moor, in Tennessee valley yesterday afternoon.

Miss Lillie was nineteen and her sister seventeen. Keener fell in love with his cousin Lillie four years ago when she was only a child of fifteen. She did not love him in return and after receiving his attentions for two years, more as a cousin than as a sweetheart, she rejected him. Maddened at her refusal to marry him, Keener declared that he would kill her unless she changed her mind.

Neither Miss Lillie nor her family paid any attention to the threat. Yesterday afternoon the two sisters started to call on a neighbor who lives some distance away. They had to pass Keener's house on the road. Keener saw them and immediately began to prepare to follow them. He loaded two revolvers. Then he got all the spare money he had in the house—$180—and kissing his own little sister good-by, he left, walking rapidly in the direction the Moore girls had gone. Some distance away he concealed himself in the bushes by the roadside. Later when the sisters were approaching on their way home, Keener sprang out and confronted them with a pistol in each hand.

Both girls screamed, for Keener looked to be dangerous. He spoke to Lillie. Laura, knowing instinctively that Keener meant harm to her sister, threw her arms around Lillie's body. She plead with her cousin to let them go on home. He tried to tear Laura from Lillie, but being unable to do this, he placed a pistol at Laura's head and shot her dead. Then he turned the weapons on Lillie and fired seven bullets into his sweetheart.

Leaving both girls in the agony of death, he fled. The shots had been heard at a neighboring house and persons running out found the two girls lying in the road. It was impossible to do anything for them, save to lift their lifeless bodies up tenderly and remove them to their home.

A posse soon started in pursuit of the murderer. Circumstantial evidence pointed to Keener. He was found before night. He resisted arrest. His pistols were empty, but he drew a knife and fought. James Dickerson was seriously wounded.

Keener was taken to jail at Clayton, seventeen miles from here. He admits the murder, but says that Laura was killed accidently. He declares that he did not mean to hurt her. He expresses no regret for killing Lillie, and says that he has intended for two years to kill her.

The girls were daughters of Mr. John Moore.

ED. SIGNAL:—

Litigations seem to be on the increase since pigs have become a legal tender in settling cost bills and attorney's fees both public and private.

There was a warrant issued in this district last week against Henry Duncan charging him with stealing two pocket handkerchiefs. Constable Graham pursued the fugitive to the Union county line, returning without his man, saying before he would venture among the white caps he would resign his office.

If not compromised or otherwise settled the Electric Mill Co. will bring suit against Col. Childres for damage caused by his fishery overflowing some of their mining property.

Scott, Wallace & Co., who it was stated would run their factory day and night, will only run a day shift, as Johnnie Rider, the proprietor of the gas works, has consented to supply the machine shop and foundery that will soon be in operation by J. W. Free and a company of Gilmer county capitalists.

Some of the boys say that Wesley Payne has quit his crop and is now devoting his time sitting on the porch rocking and singing "bye oh bye." As there is no better fellow than Wesley we wish him and the little one much pleasure.

As your correspondent was returning from Dahlonega last Saturday afternoon he heard something that very much resembled a colored people's camp meeting and supposing it to be a burial service being performed by the singing and preaching, made some enquiry, and was informed that the king of the Jayites had assembled his subjects on a mountain that overlooks his vast dominion for the purpose of holding a reunion and returning thanks for the twenty-two dollars received each month from Uncle Sam.

That "Honest Dollar."

NICK L. PENNY.

EDITOR WORD AND WORKS:—The problem of greatest interest to the American people at the present time is now to create and maintain a sound currency, or money current at its national value, whether the same be or gold, silver or paper. We have brooded over this vexing problem for a long time and now would give our thoughts to your intelligent readers for their unbiased consideration and criticism. Promising that a sound currency is essential to the general welfare of any nation—that the evil effects of an unsound currency fall almost wholly upon those who are least able to suffer—that an effect, (whatever may be its nature,) must originate with some prime cause, and that all the causes jointly producing an evil effect must be known before a rational remedy can be suggested, we shall endeavor to prove by the logic of events that government is responsible for all unsound currency, and then suggest the remedy for all present financial distress.

We will remember the "hard times" beginning about the year 1839, the immediate cause of which was the inability of some chartered banks to redeem their notes on demand and the refusal of others to do so by a suspension of specie payment; but the prime cause was that their charters permitted them to issue notes to three times the amount of capital invested without making the stockholders severally as well as collectively bound for all of their liabilities. Exercising this undue privilege they inflated the currency with impunity and left the common people to suffer all losses consequent to the dishonest dollar. Had state governments made the obligations of these banks commensurate with their privileges no such distress could have happened, as was demonstrated in after years by Ohio's banking system, remembered as "Alfred Kelley's Sow and Pigs." Again, the United States government became responsible for the most dishonest currency that has cursed the nation since the formation of the Union; for the exceptions printed upon "greenbacks" were their condemnation of which financial sharks took advantage and in a short time swallowed up all the coin of the country. Having secured all the current cash they had the government foul by reason of its own blunder, for they could buy green-backs from the common people that must have some one at 40 to 60 per cent discount and exchange them at par for gold bearing bonds, while brave soldiers enduring all manner of hardships and even suffering death to maintain the integrity of the Union, and farmers, mechanics and laborers toiling for the same end were taxed out of reason to enable the government to pay the interest accruing to the sharks upon their ill-gotten wealth. Carried in a political procession we once saw a banner inscribed: "Let the government take care of the rich and the rich will take care of the poor." Since then the action of the government seems to prove that it regards that Satanic lie as a Gospel truth, for it now seeks to favor the rich who hold gold at their disposal at the expense of the poor who must use silver by adopting a single standard of value—that of gold as the "honest dollar."

Experience has shown that where two or more dissimilar currencies are used, if any discrimination be used in favor of one the others virtually become demonetized and sink to the precarious level of common commodities. We cannot imagine a greater hypocrisy or a more rascally practice than government clamoring for an honest dollar for the rich while furnishing to the poor an abundance of depreciated coin other currency at the same nominal value; for this depreciation is the result of government exercises a consitutional power and failing to do a corre'ative duty. That power [Art. VIII, Sec. 5] is to coin money and the correlative duty to regulate its value. But while it has been coining money in gold and silver it has not regulated the value of the latter coin but by issuing treasury notes redeemable in silver alone and selling gold-bearing bonds, it has made a ruinous discrimination in favor of gold and thus left the value of silver unregulated. The value of money is not regulated until it is made a legal tender for all debts at its nominal value. Honesty, like charity, should begin at home, and hence the government that does not first protect the rights of the governed is criminally recreant and should be held to strict account for its dereliction of duty. Neither gold nor silver has any fixed intrinsic value. Hence the nominal value of each is altogether a matter of constitutional law and the power that creates should protect as well. How this can be done is the problem with which we have to deal and for which we offer the following solution:

Millions of dollars by the hundred are required annually to meet the expenses of the government, and much of this is to be disbursed in small sums for soldiers' pension, and he is no true patriot who rates his claim upon the government paramount to that of the brave soldier; therefore no distinction should be made between rich and poor, and silver should be made a legal tender to the millionaires as well as to the pensioner to whom it is often the most conveinent. Again, much of the revenue required for the expenses of government is raised by excise taxation, and if the government in justice to the tax-payers would receive all such dues in silver coin at its nominal value—would issue no more gold bearing bonds and require banks operating on a capital of such bonds to redeem their notes in gold or silver at its nominal value, and to issue no more notes of the kind—would provide for any deficiency of revenue by popular loans or direct taxation, and give us free coinage of silver and gold at the ratio of 16 to 1, until the amount of coin become amply sufficient to meet the demands of home industry and trade with a reserve in the treasury sufficient to redeem its notes on demand, and finally if the government would decree that any attempt to depreciate the value of either currency shall be held as a crime against the United States and punish the offender accordingly it would be doing no more than its duty to masses. But the great bugaboo to gold bugs is that free coinage of silver at least would result in an inflation of the currency. However a redundancy of sound money is really not an inflation that can be any drawback except to the over wealthy by lessening their rates of usury. It is always a deficiency of sound currency that blocks the wheels of industry, trade and internal commerse and brings about financial distress. This is our solution of the "financial problem," and if government will carry out what we have formulated and it fails to create and protect the "honest dollar" in its three-fold nature we are neither a prophet nor a philosopher.—Scio, Ohio.

Our sanctum was visited yesterday by three of Dahlonega's fairest young ladies, Misses Lilla and Mattie Gurley and Miss Ethel Harris, accompanied by Mr. M. W. Pitner.

At the last meeting of the Dahlonega lodge of Odd Fellows Capt. H. D. Ingersoll was appointed a delegate to the Grand Lodge which convenes at Griffin on the 21st of August, and Mr. J. H. Moore alternate.

One of Capt. Ingersoll's horses fell through the bridge near the jail a few days ago. This should be looked after at once so as to prevent any future damage suits for taxes are high enough already.

Signs of the hail, which visited this county on the 11th, can be seen yet and will for months to come. At places below town the trees look like they were dyeing on account of the twigs being partly broken off by the stones.

Maj. Dashiell took his departure for Cave Spring last Saturday in company with his wife. The Major has a leave of absence from the authorities of four months. At the expiration of this time he will be promoted, but is not aware yet where he will be sent.

Post master Gurley and Col. Charters spent a few hours last Saturday at their mine in the country—the Boley Fields. They brought back some ore showing gold and that night dreamed of having many pieces of the precious metal the shape of and as large as icecicles.

Ice cream festival will be given by the Ladies Aid Society of the Presbyterian church at the home of Mrs. Waddell on next Thursday evening, July 4th. The grounds will be lighted and music furnished. Every body invited and no charges except ten cents for ice cream.

IT MAY DO AS MUCH FOR YOU.

Mr. Fred Milles, of Irving, Ill., writes that he had a Severe Kidney trouble for many years, with severe pains in his back and also that his bladder was affected. He tried many so called Kidney cures but without any good result. About a year ago he began use of Electric Bitters and found relief at once. Electric Bitters is especially adapted to cure of all Kidney and Liver troubles and often gives almost instant relief. One trial will prove our statement. Price only 50c. for large bottle. At

E. C. Cartledge's Drug Store.

One and two quart fruit jars at J. F. Moore's.

The price of meal has declined a little since last week.

Mr. John H. Moore visited the city of Gainesville last Monday.

Mrs. J. B. Witt, of Atlanta, is spending a few weeks in Dahlonega.

A party of young ladies and gentlemen went up to Tallulah Falls this week.

Miss Emma Parrish, of Garland, had her left foot and ankle badly scalded last Monday by the overturning of a kettle of hot water.

Mrs. Dr. Charles L. Charters, of Norfolk, Va., and infant child, are stopping for a time with her brother-in-law, Col. W. A. Charters, in Dahlonega.

Mrs. Emma Cobb, who has been spending a short time with her father, Mr. C. A. Besser, at Dahlonega, returned to her home in Ellijay last Sunday.

The friends of Geo. Peck who came in yesterday to sign his bond for illicit distilling, were just a half an hour too late to do him any good, as Marshal Harbison had left with him for Atlanta.

George Peck, of this county, was arrested in an illicit distillery in the eastern portion of Lumpkin last Tuesday, which makes the fourth time within less than a year and has to be tried on each one yet unless he passes in his checks before court convenes. George believes in Uncle Sam's officers having plenty to do.

If a strange marshal was to happen to start to the prison with a man he would be just as apt to land him in Mr. Gurley's stable adjoining it as not, for it is swept out much oftener than the calaboose. It should be kept clear of trash so prisoners would have nothing to stick a lighted match to. Its recent taking fire should be a sufficient warning.

Mrs. Lawrence, residing near the cemetery, shot a time or two last Saturday night at parties rocking her house, but no one was injured. This kind of sport is wrong and very dangerous. Many years ago a man was killed by one who resided below the rock wall where Main street bridge is now located, who was engaged in this same kind of fun, which is still remembered by some of our oldest citizens.

We are truly glad to be able to help those that help us. From a letter received from Mr. Geo. P. Estes, of Gainesville, this week, it will be seen that our efforts to benefit advertisers have not been in vain this year. He says: "Will send a new ad. next week. Am glad to say that this springs ad. with you has done us more good from that section than any we have had with you. Also we note your paper continues with up-to-date live local news which always helps an ad."

After we went to press last week business in Justices court continued at a lively rate. Docia Beck swore out two more warrants, one for Robert Beck, her husband, and the other for his brother Allen. Court convened Friday before noon with two Justices on the bench to investigate the cases. Docia agreed to have the cases dismissed provided the defendants would settle the cost. This they did. The bailiff and attorney got a pig each about the size of a small cat and the Squires little mite was settled with promises. So peace and harmony reign once more.

THE IDEAL PANACEA.

James L. Francis, Alderman, Chicago, says: "I regard Dr. King's New Discovery as an Ideal Panacea for Coughs Colds and Lung Complaints, having used it in my family for the last five years, to the exclusion of physician's prescriptions or other preparations."

Rev. John Burgus, Keokuk, Iowa, writes: "I have been a Minister of the Methodist Episcopal Church for 50 years or more and have never found anything so beneficial, or that gave me such speedy relief as Dr. King's New Discovery." Try this Ideal Cough Remedy now. Trial Bottles Free at E. C. Cartledge's Drug Store.

DENTISTRY.—Dr. Bosworth, of Atlanta, will still be found located at the residence of Dr. Jones' ready to do your work in this line.

Prof. Dunn, of Dahlonega, has been appointed to conduct the teachers institute at Franklin, Heard county, Ga., on the third Monday in July, next.

Mr. F. V. Moose sends us this bit of mining news from our neighbor town, Auraria: The Etowah and Battle Branch ditch is being repaired and cleaned out with a view of starting operation at the John F. Betz mine at an early day.

The board of trustees of the N. G. A. College met last Tuesday to determine who should teach a public school in the "Pea Green" building near the college, controled by the board, next year which resulted in Mr. A. W. Meaders being the lucky person.

Last Saturday afternoon Charlie Hunters dog jumped on Dr. Weld's dog for a fight. Before night orders were issued for Charlies dog to be tied or it would be shot by the marshal. Some time ago the writer saw Dr. Weld's dog chase one of the tax collector's boys some distance on the square. No action has been taken about this dog yet.

U. S. Deputy Marshal Helton has been taking a very active part in the cause of temperance this week. Last Tuesday he found Will Palmer and Tom Parks running an illicit distillery up in the mountains of White county. He demolished the concern and escorted the operators to Dahlonega where they were bound over by Com. Baker.

Some fellow from Gainesville came up last week in search of a good place to open up a barber shop. One among the first things he done was to enquire for a bottle of liquor. He probably uses a substitute for bay rum and desired to ascertain whether he would be able to get all the ingredients—this especially—before he proceeded any farther.

The calaboose has been enclosed by a new fence this week. We do not mean to say that it is fixed so that violators of the law cannot gain admittance to the interior department of the building, for it is not. There is a large gate in front of the door and the way is short and broad and very plain to all who do wrong, or that is all who are caught up with.

Our town squires had but little rest last week. Just about the time they had got the tenth warrant in the Beck case disposed of Mrs. Lawrence called around to Squire Norton's for a warrant for some one because she had found a little piece of bread in her garden which she supposed to contain poison. But the Squire probably thinking that it was dropped by some mother bird while feeding its young ones, and that there was no law to cover such cases, refused to issue the warrant and Mrs. Lawrence went away mad.

Surely there are more dogs in Dahlonega than any other place of its size in the state, and if all the taxes are collected on them it will run the town government for some time. They commence howling and barking soon after the shadows of the sun pass away and continue until next morning. Our chief editor has got so use to their noise that he cannot go to sleep without their barking, and if by accident they cease for a moment he at once arouses from his slumbers. It's got so when he goes off on a visit to remain all night he carries along a fice and a cat to tie to each bed post so the dog can have something to bark at and cause the editor to take a comfortable nights rest from his weary labors.

April 19, 94.

GEO. P. ESTES.

Miss. Amelia Millett, of San Antonia, Tex., and Miss Willie McAvoy, of Toccoa City, Ga., have been the guests of Mrs. Blackmer, in Dahlonega this week.

The Boyd Anti-barroom bill, which will be disposed of in some manner by the next general assembly, provides for the sale of a full quart of pure corn whiskey at cost in case of sickness. Should this bill become a law wouldn't there be many sick persons the next day after it went into effect? You would hear of them all around you vomiting worse than those did during the war through fear when a battle was announced. Most any lover of the "tea" could afford to get sick when he was aware that he could get a quart of pure liquor at a dose and that too at old time prices.

We note with pleasure this week the presence of Mrs. Dr. Ballenger, of Floyd Springs, Ga., and Mrs. Dr. Smith, of Kansas City, Mo., sisters of Messrs. John and Frank Moore, in our town, accompanied by Doyal Moore, a son of Mr. Crof. Moore, also of Floyd Springs. Mrs. Smith left Dahlonega near fifty years ago and many changes have taken place, both in town and people, since this lady took her departure from here, most of her acquaintances have either long since passed away. Our much welcomed friends anticipate spending some two or three weeks in Dahlonega, each of whom we wish a pleasant visit.

You often hear persons say that boys will follow the example set by their fathers. This is not always the case. We know of a man in Lumpkin county that is now preaching who kept grocery for his father in Dahlonega near forty years ago. And very often you will see men drink liquor whose father does not even know the taste of it, and sometimes men are hung for crimes that their parents were never guilty of. But the funniest thing we have noticed for some time, was a note the other day signed by a father and his grown son who spelled their names differently. The boy thought he knew more than his father, and in order to keep up with the times, had to put an extra touch to his name.

Bob Beck was arrested yesterday for breaking into Miss Lawrence's house.

John Redmond, who was recently shot by sheriff Pruitt, although having been reported as being on the brink of the grave which caused the sheriff and coroner of Hall county to come up for the purpose of getting his dying testimony some days ago, is rapidly improving and will likely be able to appear in person when court convenes and give in his own testimony. Redmond doesn't seem to have any fears of passing away soon for it is said that he lies and curses the innocent little house flie when it happens to light on him. He has been under the care of Drs. Smith, Jones and Whelchel during the whole time who have given him the most strict attention.

"Uncle" Joe Chester, who has been residing in this county since 1845, was in Dahlonega one day this week. For years and years he did all the grinding at Wimpy's mill, about one mile from town, but since ceasing his labors there he has been living a quiet life in the country, some two miles from town. Notwithstanding he has seen many many summers he walks to town whenever he pleases apparently with as much ease as a lad of sixteen. "Uncle" Joe has a splendid memory and tells of many interesting incidents which occurred long years ago. When this old gentleman was growing up ladies manufactured all their own clothing and people only had buscuit once a week—every Sunday morning, and boys got their first pair of shoes for the winter on Christmas day. There was no such thing as a hog law in those days but on the other hand everybody encouraged the raising of pork. Hogs were then brought here in droves of many hundreds. While "Uncle" Joe was telling us about Wm. Rice doing his own striking with a sledge hammer, by a treddle, in a shop located where his son, Stephen Rice, now lives, a lady passed along with a silken dress containing balloon sleeves with about four yards in each, we asked if they had any such dresses as that when he was a boy. "No," replied the old gentleman, "eight or ten yards of cotton cloth made the entire dress."

Prof. J. W. Boyd and lady, of Young Harris, arrived in the city yesterday.

The harvesting season is on hand and the grain is turning out a very good yield.

Some unknown person threw a rock at Mr. Aiken Tuesday night. In return he discharged his pistol but the bullet missed its mark and no damage was done on either side.

One of the lamp posts being on fire Tuesday night caused some excitement until the whereabouts of the fire was located. It was caused by gasolene escaping from the tank and running down the post, then taking fire.

Mr. Pink Turner, residing about ten miles out in the Western part of the county, is now very ill and in a dangerous condition, having taken suddenly sick while talking to Mr. Samuel Good, living only a quarter of a mile from his home. While at Mr. Gooch's gate on Wednesday afternoon Mr. Turner told the gentleman that a severe pain had struck him in the side and started home, and before he reached there it got worse and he could be heard hollowing on account of the intense suffering a long distance which caused the neighbors to rush in from all parts. Mr. Turner thought he was going to die and gave some instructions how to raise his children. He was a little better yesterday before noon.

It is reliably stated that Foster Thomaston, charged with being a member of the white caps of Union county, is in a bad condition. His health has been declining ever since Phillips was whipped and his mind seems to be somewhat in a deranged condition. The other members that have not been arrested are still on the alert and wild as bucks. Phillips is still hovering under the wings of his friends at Dahlonega and keeps the Blue Ridge between him and his enemies. They gave notice that they would put his light out whenever an opportunity was offered and he does not doubt their veracity for truthfulness enough to go over for an interview. So this is the condition this young man has got into by reporting.

QUERRIES ANSWERED.

What Georgia Farmers Wanted Information About.

THE COMMISSIONER'S REPLIES.

Spraying Is Proven to Be a Necessity. Some of the Best Solutions—Cowpeas as a Plant Food—Burning Off Lands Is a Bad Practice—Points About Fertilizers and Other Matters.

LOSS OF NITROGEN WHEN PEAVINES ARE TURNED UNDER.

QUESTION 1.—Suppose I wish to turn peavines under for fertilizing; how shall I prevent the loss of the nitrogen, which the peas have furnished? If left during the winter we know that this must inevitably happen.

ANSWER 1.—As you will notice from the commissioner's letter for this month, to turn an entire pea crop under is not the most remunerative plan of utilizing its benefits. A far better plan of feeding mind is to cut the vines for hay and sow either rye or Crimson clover on the stubble. Or you might sow wheat or winter oats, and by using some form of potash, 200 pounds per acre of kainit is good, you could expect, with ordinary seasons, a paying yield. For these crops the land should be thoroughly plowed and harrowed.

SPRAYING APPARATUS.

QUESTION 2.—The development of fungous diseases and the increase of insect pests are becoming such sources of worry and loss to the vegetable and fruit grower that I can but agree with your views on the subject of preventives, spraying, etc. To this end in view I would like to know something of the proper apparatus to be used and the probable cost.

ANSWER 2.—We have recently seen in operation a small sprayer, which can be attached to the side of any vessel, barrel, tub or bucket, and for a small garden or orchard will answer every purpose. It can be easily handled, throws the spray with sufficient force and cost $5.00.

For larger orchards or market gardens the following from Secretary Morton, United States commissioner of agriculture, covers the ground:

"Spraying to control various insect pests, particularly those of the orchard and garden, has reached so satisfactory and inexpensive a basis that it is recognized by every progressive farmer as a necessary feature of the year's operations, and in the case of the apple, pear and plum crops the omission of such treatment means serious loss. The consequent demand for spraying apparatus has been met by all the leading pump manufacturers of the country, and ready-fitted apparatus, consisting of pump, spray tank or barrel, and nozzle with hose, are on the market in numerous styles at prices ranging from $30 upward. The cost of a spraying outfit for orchard work may, however, be considerably reduced by purchasing merely the pump and nozzle and mounting them at home on a strong barrel. An apparatus of this sort, representing a style that has proven very satisfactory in practical experience, is illustrated in the accompanying figure. It is merely a strong pump with an air-chamber to give a steady stream provided with two discharge nozzles. One of these enters the barrel and keeps the water agitated and the poison thoroughly intermixed, and the other and longer one is the spraying hose and terminates in the nozzle.

"The spraying hose should be about 20 feet long and may be fastened to a light pole, preferably of bamboo, to assist in directing the spray. The nozzle should be capable of breaking the water up into a fine mist spray, so as to wet the plant completely with the least possible expenditure of liquid. The two more satisfactory nozzles are those of the Nixon and the Vermorel type. A suitable pump with nozzle and hose may be obtained of any pump manufacturer or hardware dealer at a cost of from $18 to $15. If one with brass fittings be secured it will serve for the application of fungicides. The outfit outlined above may be mounted on a cart or wagon, the additional elevation secured in this way facilitating the spraying of trees, or for more extended operations, the pump may be mounted on a large water tank."

SPRAYING.

QUESTION 3.—I notice remedies for spraying in your last report. Is it necessary to spray? Cannot a good crop of fruit be raised without this trouble and expense? If not, give some specific directions.

ANSWER 3.—This question of spraying is no longer a matter of choice, but of necessity. The presence of fungus diseases and insect pests is the main cause of disappointment in our fruit crops, and also of the early decay of orchards, which should continue in bearing for an indefinite period. The value of these spraying remedies has been so clearly demonstrated by the experiment stations and by individual tests of large fruit growers that we can no longer doubt their expediency or economy. In fighting these pests the warfare must be aggressive as well as defensive, and should have been inaugurated earlier in the season; but it is not yet too late to use some of the remedies which I give below.

Apple.—(Scab, codlin moth, and bud moth.)—When blossoms have fallen, bordeaux and arsenites—the same, 8 to 12 days later; 10 to 14 days later, bordeaux again, 10 to 14 days later, bordeaux again.

Cherry.—(Rot, aphis, slug.)—When fruit has set, bordeaux. If slugs appear, dust leaves with air slaked lime. Hellebore.

Grape.—(Fungus diseases, flea beetle.)—When leaves are 1 1-12 inches in diameter, bordeaux. Paris green for larvae of flea beetle. When flowers have fallen, bordeaux and paris green as before; 10 to 14 days later, bordeaux; 10 to 14 days later, if any disease appears, bordeaux; 10 to 14 days later, ammoniacal copper carbonate. Apply again later, if necessary.

Peach.—(Rot, mildew).—When fruit has set, bordeaux; when fruit is nearly grown, ammoniacal copper carbonate; 8 to 10 days later, the same; and 5 to 10 days later repeat, if necessary.

Pear.—(Leaf blight, scab psylla, codlin moth.)—After blossoms have fallen, bordeaux and arsenites; kerosene emulsion if necessary 8 to 12 days later; repeat these; 10 to 14 days later bordeaux. Kerosene emulsion forcibly for psylla; 10 to 14 days later repeat, if necessary.

Raspberry, blackberry, dewberry.—(Anthracnose, rust.)—During summer, if rust appears on leaves, bordeaux. If orange or red rust appears it is best to destroy the plants.

Strawberry.—(Rust.)—As first fruits are setting, bordeaux; as fruit ripens, ammoniacal copper carbonate. When last fruit is gathered, bordeaux; to be repeated if rust appears. Young plants not in bearing may be treated throughout the fruiting season.

Tomato.—(Rot blight.)—At first appearance of blight, or rot, bordeaux, to be repeated as necessary during the season.

The above extracts, with the following formulas, are from careful tests at Cornell Experiment station. As to the manner of application and other details, we have not space to particularize. A sprayer, of course, is necessary, and you might write to Cornell for explicit directions.

BORDEAUX MIXTURE.

Copper sulphate, 6 pounds.
Quick lime, 4 pounds.
Water, 40 to 50 gallons.

Dissolve the copper sulphate by putting it in a bag of coarse cloth and hanging this in a vessel holding at least 4 gallons, so that it is just covered by the water. Use earthen or wooden vessel. Shake the lime in an equal amount of water. Then mix the two and add enough water to make 40 gallons. It is then ready for immediate use but will keep indefinitely. If the mixture is to be used on peach foliage it is advisable to add an extra pound of lime to the above formula. When applied to such plants as carnations or cabbages it will check blotch. When a pound of hard soap be dissolved in hot water and added to the mixture. For rots, moulds, mildews and all fungous diseases.

AMMONIATED COPPER CARBONATE.

Copper carbonate, 1 ounce; Ammonia, enough to dissolve the copper; water, 9 gallons.

The copper carbonate is best dissolved in large bottles, where it will keep indefinitely, and it should be diluted with water as required. For the same purposes as bordeaux mixture.

FORMULAS.—COPPER SUBNITATE SOLUTION.

Copper sulphate, 1 pound.
Water, 15 gallons.

Dissolve the copper sulphate in the water which it is ready for use. This should never be applied to foliage, but must be used before the buds break. For peaches and nectarines use 25 gallons of water. For fungous diseases.

PARIS GREEN.

Paris green, 1 pound.
Water, 200 gallons.

If this mixture is to be used on peach trees, 1 pound of quick lime should be added. Repeated applications will injure most foliage unless lime is added. Paris green and Bordeaux mixture can be applied together with perfect safety. Use at the rate of 4 ounces of the arsenites to 50 gallons of water. When a portion of sulphur is weakened, and the Paris green loses all caustic properties. For insects which chew.

LONDON PURPLE.

This is used in the same proportion as Paris green, but as it is more caustic it should be applied with two or three times its weight of lime, or with the Bordeaux mixture. The composition of London purple is exceedingly variable, and unless good reasons exist for supposing that it contains as much arsenic as Paris green use the latter paints. Do not use London purple on peach or plum trees unless sure that the lime is added. For insects which chew.

HELLEBORE.

Fresh white hellebore, 1 ounce.
Water, 2 gallons.

Apply when thoroughly mixed. This poison is not so energetic as the arsenites and may be used a short time before the sprayed portions mature. For insects which chew.

KEROSENE EMULSION.

Hard soap, 1-2 pound.
Boiling water, 1 gallon.
Kerosene, 2 gallons.

Dissolve the soap in the water, add the kerosene and churn with a pump for 5-10 minutes. Dilute 10 to 25 times before applying. Use strong emulsion for all scale insects. For insects which suck, as plant lice, mealy bugs, red spider, thrips, bark lice or scale. Cabbage worms, currant worms and all insects which have soft bodies can also be successfully treated.

PARKER'S HAIR BALSAM
Cleanses and beautifies the hair. Promotes a luxuriant growth. Never Fails to Restore Gray Hair to its Youthful Color. Cures scalp diseases & hair falling. 50 cts. & $1.00 at Druggists.

BROKEN IN HEALTH.

Now He can Run and Jump "Equal to a Sixteen-year-old Boy"—The Effect of Six Boxes of Pink Pills.

From the Messenger, Wilmington, N. C.

The following letter from George Russell, a citizen of Harrisburg, N. C., will prove of interest to many of our readers who may be suffering from that dreaded disease—rheumatism:

"Harrisburg, N. C., April, 3, 1895.

Dr. Williams' Medicine Company, Schenectady, N. Y.

Gentlemen:—During the summer of 1888 I had a severe attack of typhoid fever which left my constitution in a wrecked and broken down condition. Ever afterwards I had to be very careful not to get the least damp for if I did an attack of rheumatism would be the result. I was able, however, to attend to business in spite of my ills, though I could never say that I was well. I continued this way till the summer of 1894 when I was taken with a more severe attack of rheumatism which commenced first in the hips of my head and neck, then my shoulders became involved. I suffered untold agonies, could not rest day or night, could get in no position that would give me rest even for a few moments; could not sleep more than 15 minutes at any one time, had no appetite, my flesh was reduced till I weighed only 121 lbs. The disease moved down or rather spread to the small of the back and into both hips then to the left knee joint. I could not walk up the door steps, but had to crawl on hands and knees. About this time I was taken with a shortness of breath which one doctor pronounced heart dropsy, another an excess of water in the chest. I gave up all hopes of ever getting any better or even living for any length of time. I wrote many of my relations that I did not expect to live but a very short time. About this time I had been under the care of men who called themselves good doctors all the time, I had six of them to attend during my illness. I tried everything that I could get that was said to benefit people who had rheumatism but instead of getting relief I continued to grow worse. One day a friend came to visit me and after all other friends had gone he spoke to me about Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. She showed me what she had taken and how much benefit they had done her. Her remedy was Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. She showed me the box and told me I could get them at Dr. Lowe's drug store in Harrisburg. I told her that I had no faith in them and as for the advertisement in the paper, it was nothing but more humbug. But after a drowning man that will catch at a straw I concluded to buy the pills. I commenced to get better from the first day. I took six boxes and am well, my appetite is good, I sleep well and have gained from 121 lbs. to 160 lbs. I have been in the train till I was literally scorched without experiencing any annoyance from my kidneys. I am a well boy and also equal in a sixteen-year-old boy.

Any one doubting this statement can be satisfied by writing me.

Yours truly,
GEORGE RUSSELL.

Mr. George Russell, this day appeared in person before me a Justice of the Peace for Richmond County, N. C., and made oath that the statement contained in this manuscript is true in every particular. Sworn to before me this 3rd day of April, 1895.

M. K. JONES, J. P.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills cure all forms of weakness arising from a watery condition of the blood or shattered nerves, two fruitful causes that make sickness a life long curse to so many. These pills are also a specific for the troubles peculiar to females, such as suppression, all forms of weakness, the after effects of la grippe, palpitation of the heart, pale and sallow complexions, nervous prostration, headache, pain in the back, chronic constipation, bearing down pains, etc., and in the case of men will give speedy relief and effect a perfect cure in all cases arising from mental worry, overwork or excesses of what ever nature.

These Pills are manufactured by the Dr. Williams Medicine Company, Schenectady, N. Y., and are sold by them only in boxes bearing the firm's trade mark and wrapper, at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50.

FREE COINAGE
THE PEOPLE'S MONEY—the coinage of both gold and silver, without discrimination, which means the free coinage of both as opposed to the policy of contraction, which has been dictated by England and adopted in Washington, and which levies tribute on every product of the farm, on valuations of all kinds and on all compensations for labor.
THE GREAT ISSUE NOW is the double standard against the single standard—the use of both gold and silver as standard money metals against keeping the currency of the country on the gold basis.
The ATLANTA WEEKLY CONSTITUTION
published at ATLANTA, GA., and having
A CIRCULATION OF MORE THAN 155,000, chiefly among the farmers of the country, and going to more homes than any weekly newspaper published on the face of the earth, is
The Leading Champion of the People in all the great contests in which they are engaged against the exactions of monopoly.
THE CONSTITUTION IS THE BIGGEST AND BEST WEEKLY NEWSPAPER published in America, covering the news of the world, having correspondents in every city in America, and in the capitals of Europe, and reporting in full the details of debates in Congress on all questions of public interest. It is
THE GREAT SOUTHERN WEEKLY NEWSPAPER, and as the exponent of Southern opinion and the purveyor of Southern news it has no equal on the continent.
An enlargement of 12 columns. To meet the demands upon its space for news, The Constitution will increase its size during the summer to 12 pages, 7 columns, making 84 columns each week.
THE CONSTITUTION'S SPECIAL FEATURES are such as are not to be found in any other paper in America.
The Farm and Farmers' Department, The Women's Department, The Children's Department are all under able direction and are specially attractive to those to whom these departments are addressed.
Under the editorial management of CLARK HOWELL, its special contributors are writers of such world-wide reputation as Joel Chandler Harris, Frank L. Stanton, Mrs. Rebe Hacke, Frank H. Sneckson, Joel Chandler Harris, Peter Hamilton, and hundreds of others, while the best humorous writers as Bill Arp, Sarge Plunkett, Wallace P. Reed, Frank L. Stanton, and others, who give its literary features a peculiar Southern flavor that commends it to every fireside from Virginia to Texas, from Missouri to California.
During the whole delay and failure to bring the promised relief in financial matters The Constitution has heralded, in season and out, the full news. It has given plain editorial utterances upon the effect of the trimming and misguided policy of wreckage and more bonds, which events have shown to be prophetic in their unerring directness.

THE GREAT SOUTH AMERICAN
NERVINE TONIC
AND
Stomach and Liver Cure
The Most Astonishing Medical Discovery of the Last One Hundred Years.
It is Pleasant to the Taste as the Sweetest Nectar.
It is Safe and Harmless as the Purest Milk.
This wonderful Nervine Tonic has only recently been introduced into this country by the Great South American Medicine Company, and yet its great value as a curative agent has long been known by the native inhabitants of South America, who rely almost wholly upon its great medicinal powers to cure every form of disease by which they are afflicted.
This new and valuable South American medicine possesses powers and qualities hitherto unknown to the medical profession. This medicine has completely solved the problem of the cure of Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint, and diseases of the general Nervous System. It also cures all forms of failing health from whatever cause. It performs this by the Great Nervine Tonic qualities which it possesses and by its powerful curative powers upon the digestive organs, the stomach, liver and bowels. No remedy compares with this wonderfully valuable Nervine Tonic as a builder and strengthener of the life forces of the human body and as a great renewer of a broken down constitution. It is also of more real permanent value in the treatment and cure of diseases of the Lungs than any ten consumption remedies ever used on this continent. It is a marvelous cure for nervousness of females of all ages. Ladies who are approaching the critical period of change in life, should not fail to use this great Nervine Tonic almost constantly for the space of two or three years. It will carry them safely over the danger. This great strengthener and curative is of inestimable value to the aged and infirm, because its great energizing properties will give them a new hold on life. It will add ten or fifteen years to the lives of many of those who will use a half dozen bottles of the remedy each year.
A SWORN CURE FOR ST. VITUS'S DANCE OR CHOREA.
CRAWFORDSVILLE, IND., May 19, 1892.
My daughter, twelve years old, had been afflicted for several months with Chorea or St. Vitus's Dance. She was reduced to a skeleton, could not walk, could not talk, could not eat, low anything but milk. I had to handle her like an infant. Doctor and neighbors gave her up. I commenced giving her the South American Nervine Tonic, the results were wonderful, printing. In three days she was rid of the nervousness, and rapidly gained flesh, and was cured her completely. I think the South American Nervine the greatest remedy ever discovered, and would recommend it to every one. Mrs. W. S. ELLINGHAM.

CRAWFORDSVILLE, IND., June 22, 1887.
My daughter, eleven years old, was severely afflicted with Chorea or St. Vitus's Dance. We gave her three and one-half bottles of South American Nervine and she is completely restored. I believe it will cure every case of St. Vitus's Dance. I have been in the drug business for ten years, and am sure it is the greatest remedy for the blood for nervousness and dyspepsia of all forms of Nervous Disorders and Failing Health that I have ever handled.

INDIGESTION AND DYSPEPSIA.
The Great South American Nervine Tonic
Which we now offer you, is the only absolutely unfailing remedy ever discovered for the cure of Indigestion, Dyspepsia, and the vast train of symptoms and horrors which are the result of disease and debility of the human stomach. No person can afford to pay high prices for worthless medicine who is afflicted by disease of the Stomach, because the experience and testimony of thousands go to prove that this is the ONLY and ONLY ONE great cure in the world for this universal destroyer. There is no case of unmalignant disease of the stomach which can resist the wonderful curative powers of the South American Nervine Tonic.
Harriet E. Hill, of Wesson, Miss., Ind., says: I owe my life to The Great South American Nervine. I had been in bad health for many years from the effects of an exhausted Stomach, Indigestion, Nervous Prostration and a general shattered condition of my whole system. I had given up all hopes of getting well. Three doctors will be called. The first bottle of the Nervine Tonic improved me so much that I was able to walk about, and a few bottles cured me entirely. I believe it the best medicine in the world. I can not recommend it too highly.
Mrs. M. Russell, Sugar Creek Valley, Ind., writes: "I have used several bottles of The South American Nervine Tonic, and I honestly consider it the best medicine in the world. I believe it saved the lives of two of my children. They were down and nothing appeared able to help them get well until I procured this medicine and it was very surprising how rapidly they both improved on its use. I recommend the medicine to all my neighbors.
Mrs. Ella A. Bratton, of New Ross, Indiana, says: "I can not express how much I owe to the Great South American Nervine. I was completely shattered, appetite none, was coughing and sweating up blood; was given up by the first doctors of consumption, an inheritance handed down from my father's side of the house. I began taking the Nervine Tonic and continued its use for six weeks, when I was entirely well, and am entirely cured. It is the greatest remedy for nerves, stomach and liver I ever took. Cured.
Ed. J. Brown, Druggist, of Pikes, Mo., writes: "I can not say that I have been much I owe to the Great South American Nervine. I was completely shattered, appetite none, was coughing and sweating up blood; was given up by the first doctors of consumption, an inheritance handed down from my father's side of the house. I began taking the Nervine Tonic and continued its use for six weeks, when I was entirely well, and am entirely cured. It is the greatest remedy for nerves, stomach and liver I ever took. Cured.
